Community Chest Only Logical Solution of Fund-Raising Vexations

It now looks as if a "Community Chest" for Glendale is assured. At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Community Chest committee called for last evening all the speakers were in hearty accord as to the advisability of establishing a chest for Glendale as soon as possible. Recommendation was made that those bodies that could not wait its organization underwrite their budgets.

The success of "chests" elsewhere gives us the assurance of its success here. The ability of the citizens to work together in harmony will be tested. All factional feeling must be laid aside for this time if success is to be obtained.

While in the latest drive, which was for funds for earthquake relief, the quota set for Glendale was raised, it was only done through a herculean effort, made by our local Red Cross chapter, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce and many local organizations as well as individual citizens.

This drive had an appeal to the sympathies of the public, and found in drives, and if difficulty was met in loosening the pursestrings for it, other drives will fail in the attempt. The citizens of Glendale, along with those of the entire United States, are insisting on economy in administration of all public or semi-public institutions and the waste of time, energy and money in the innumerable drives being made for worth-while institutions must be done away with.

AUTO CAMPING GROUND MATTER NEARS SOLUTION

The automobile camp ground question in Glendale is gradually nearing a successful conclusion.

About twenty automobile camp ground owners of Los Angeles gathered at the Glendale city hall Monday night, their object being to ascertain just what sort of an ordinance Glendale is about to pass. Los Angeles is also considering a similar ordinance at this time.

Attorney Harry Chase, representing J. R. Detweiler, owner of the automobile camp on San Fernando road, close to Broadway, and Attorney Anspach, appearing for Mr. Roberts, the owner of the camp at the corner of Riverdale and San Fernando, were also present.

The owners and representatives of owners of these camp grounds went over the proposed ordinance with Attorney Ray Morrow, city attorney, with the result that considerable progress was made toward solving the camp ground problem.

THE J. T. ALLENS ARE HOME FROM LONG AUTO TRIP

J. T. Allen, proprietor of the Glendale Florist Shop, and Mrs. Allen have just returned from a three weeks' tour of Washington, Oregon and other points, making the entire distance of 3800 miles in their touring car. Their vacation extended over a period of five weeks, and they visited nearly every northern point of interest.

Mr. Allen says hunting in the Puget Sound country is great, and that he had the time of his life, chasing deer and camping. He also noticed a decided tendency to improve the roads in every direction and found that every city and county had come to a realization of the fact that good automobile roads do more to build up the country than any other agency that could be employed. Mrs. Allen visited her parents in southern Oregon and altogether the trip was a most delightful one.

ADVERTISING WILL BE GIVEN CITY BY ELECTRIC ENGINE

Will Be Leading Feature at Big Atlantic City Meeting

Some real advertising will be given Glendale in connection with the new electric locomotive that has been purchased by the Glendale-Montrose Railway company, and which will be brought across country to Glendale within a short time.

This engine will be one of the leading features at the convention of the National Association of Railway Equipment Engineers, which will be held at Atlantic City, N. J., within a couple of weeks. The Westinghouse Electric company, from which the locomotive was purchased by the local railway company, has in this motor turned out its finest job, knowing that it would be carefully looked over by the largest equipment men of the country, who will attend the convention.

Mr. Nagle of the Glendale-Montrose company left Glendale Sunday in order to personally supervise the shipping of the locomotive to the west. Before leaving, Mr. Nagle was loaded down with two large banners and a whole cartload of the booklets on Glendale issued recently by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. The two banners, which are three feet wide and sixteen feet long, bear the wording: "I'm on my way to Glendale, California, the fastest growing city in America." These will be fastened to the sides of the locomotive with heavy ropes so that they will not tear off during the jaunt across country, which trip the motor will make on its own wheels. En route to California the motor will go through Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and other large cities. These signs have orange-colored backgrounds, blue letters and white trim.

GLENDALE LADIES ATTEND DISTRICT COUNCIL IN L. A.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery represented the Tuesday Afternoon club at the first meeting for the season of the Presidents' Council under the District Federation of Women's Clubs.

It was held at the Ebell clubhouse in Los Angeles with Mrs. C. H. Toll presiding and was an all-day session, beginning at 10 a. m. and not closing until 4 p. m.

Mrs. Urquhart, state president, was present and the guest of honor. She was accompanied by Mrs. Marsh, state vice-president. Mrs. Grantland Seton Long was the hostess as president of the Ebell club, and one of the guests of honor was Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, a past president of the district federation, who was most graciously introduced by Mrs. Toll as her neighbor and friend. Mrs. Jones was a speaker at the luncheon and predicted wonderful success for the federation the coming year—now belongs to Everett Scott, shortstop of the New York Yankees, without a doubt.

Scott yesterday ran his string up to 1,123 games. If he plays the remaining games on the Yankees' schedule this year, he will have completed seven full seasons and part of another without having missed a regularly scheduled game. He began his major league career with the Red Sox on June 20, 1916.

JUDGE CHASE IS PARTY TO SUIT IN HIS OWN COURT

The case of W. L. Foults of Elk avenue vs. Levi H. Hedges, of Montrose, was heard before Attorney A. H. Davis, yesterday.

Hedges claims Judge Chase, who is a contractor, did some work for Foults, who paid for the job when it was finished. Hedges, according to Judge Chase, did not pay for all the material bills on the job, although he received payment from Foults. The suit is to recover $280 claimed to have been paid to Hedges by Foults under these circumstances.

On account of Judge Chase having filed a similar complaint against Hedges before Judge Lowe, the case was heard before Attorney Davis.

COMMUNITY CHEST FOR GLENDALE SEEMS TO BE NOW AN ASSURED FACT

Thirty Representatives of Well-known Organizations Respond to Call of W. E. Hewitt, Who Had Been Named as Temporary Chairman

DISCUSSION SHOWS NEAR AGREEMENT

Mr. Hewitt Chosen Permanent Chairman and Committee of Five of Which He Is Member, to Work Out Plans for Organization

Unless all signs fail, a civic chest is assured for Glendale. About thirty representatives of as many well-known organizations responded Monday night to the call of W. E. Hewitt, who had been named as temporary chairman, and presented themselves at the Chamber of Commerce. The discussion revealed that they were in practical agreement relative to the advantages of a chest and it would be simply a matter of working out details and educating the public to the support of the proposition. After a unanimous vote to have Mr. Hewitt continue as chairman until the chest should have been permanent.

planned and his wishes would be respected, but that each beneficiary organization would be limited to the quota assigned it under the whole amount raised. Very clear and brief expositions of community chest work in cities where it has been tried out, and the satisfactory results to the public and the beneficiaries were made by Chairman Hewitt and Dr. Newton, who stressed the point that under the chest system the whole community would be educated to giving and the number of participants doubled and trebled, thus relieving the burden on the "wheel horses" who under the old system had to carry it all.

Mr. Hewitt brought out the point that the beneficiaries will embrace all nationalities and all creeds. Said he: "We must eliminate all jealousy and all suspicion that someone else is going to get the best of it. We must pull together. Glendale has very little charity work. If we go into this it will not be a case of getting into it, heart and soul. It may take 400 workers. It may mean the raising of $35,000 or $45,000 to finance the chest."

Dr. Newton reviewed the educational work which would be necessary in the way of newspaper publicity, posters, advertisements and the like to sell the proposition to the public and make it thoroughly understood before the drive should be launched. He estimated that when the time should be ripe the drive ought not to consume more than one week of intensive work. To the organizations like the Y. M. C. A., represented by David Black, that had planned immediate drives, he suggested the underwriting of their budgets to be reimbursed by the community chest later.

Those present appeared to be in sentiment and in very harmonious agreement on the chest. They were: Secretary E. F. Sanders, Assistant Secretary Goodloe, President Smith of the Chamber of Commerce, Rev. E. E. Ford, Rev. H. Rasmus, representing the Ministerial association; Mrs. H. B. Bartlett, representing the Glendale chapter, American Red Cross; Rudolph Street of the West Glendale Improvement association; Dr. Warren G. Newton of the Exchange club; George Karr of the Rotary club; Burton McGinnis of the Kiwanis club; Mrs. E. B. Moore of the Federation of Parent-Teacher associations; Mrs. Flora Pixley of the Women's Relief Corps; C. D. Lusby of the Men's Brotherhood; Mrs. John D. Case and Miss Myrtle Helmer of Community Service; David Black of the Y. M. C. A.; Lloyd Wilson of the San Fernando Boulevard association; David Hibbard of the board of education; Alexander Mitchell of the Foot Improvement association; Miss E. G. Gibbs of the Business Women's club; C. W. Ingdewie of the Glendale Advancement association; Mrs. E. D. Yard of the Glendale Welfare Council; Charles E. NOTED RAILROAD MAN DIES AFTER MONTHS' ILLNESS

Charles S. Fee Was With Southern Pacific for Many Years

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Charles S. Fee, general passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific lines and one of the best known railroad officials in the west, died here today after an illness of a month.

Mr. Fee, who was born in Laurel, Ohio, 70 years ago yesterday, was recognized as dean of western railroad passenger traffic men. He specialized in advertisement of scenic wonders of the world, and his zeal in this regard drew many thousands of tourists to this coast.

He entered the railroad business in 1873 as secretary to the general superintendent of the Michigan Central. Two years later he became chief clerk of the general manager of the Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad, and in 1877 was appointed chief clerk to the general manager of the Northern Pacific railroad.

In 1883 he was promoted to the position of general passenger and ticket agent of that line, remaining in that capacity until 1904, when he was appointed traffic manager of the Southern Pacific company.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT MONDAY NIGHT

A memorial to the late President Warren G. Harding was held Monday night when 200 members, relatives and friends of the Glendale Commandery, Knights Templars, gathered at Masonic hall to do honor to the late president of this country.

The festivities started with a 6:30 dinner, after which a ceremonial, consisting of musical and literary numbers was given. The following numbers were rendered: Vocal duet, Mrs. Cavanah; whistling solo, Mrs. Helen Payne, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Bowers; reading, Mr. Brewster, instructor in dramatics at the Glendale high school. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church at Glendale.

During the ceremonial the members of the order were in uniform. At one point of the service a large oil portrait of Mr. Harding was carried in by military escort and was draped on the altar, all flags in the room being at half mast.

BROADWAY P. T. A. EXECUTIVE BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Mary Reese, president of the Broadway P. T. A., called a meeting of the executive board at her home Monday afternoon at which a good representation was present. Many plans were made for the year's activities. The question of milk distribution in the school was discussed and authorized. Mrs. Ryan, principal, offered to make the distribution.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the P. T. A. Federation was present and made some very complimentary remarks. "Everyone is watching Broadway. The work it accomplished last year was given special mention in both the district and state conventions. There is no reason why this year's work should not be a splendid." Tea was served during the social hour that followed the business session.

local D. A. R.; Jesse Smith of the Knights of Columbus; W. B. Kelly of the Exchange club; Daniel Campbell and the chairman, W. E. Hewitt. The meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, who stated he would appoint the committee of five without delay, so that the organization might be pushed as rapidly as possible. Tuesday morning Mr. Hewitt announced the committee of five as follows: Jesse Smith of the Knights of Columbus, Mrs. Daniel Campbell of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Dr. Warren Z. Newton of the Rotary club, George Karr of the Exchange club and himself as stipulated by the vote at the meeting, to be chairman.

MIGHTY OREGON WILL BE MOORED AS PRIZE RELIC

BREMERTON, Wash., Sept. 25.—The Spanish war battleship Oregon was being prepared today for its voyage next month to Portland, Oregon, to be moored as a relic. The guns that aided in sinking the Spanish fleet as it came from its hiding place in the harbor of Santiago, Cuba, in 1898, are being disabled. The mighty engines that drove the old warrior around Cape Horn in time for the battle are being dismantled.

Launched October 26, 1893, the only service the Oregon now can render is inspiration to future deeds of valor in time of need.

GLENDALE HI Y OPENS FALL WORK MONDAY NIGHT

The fall work of the Hi Y of Glendale opened with a bang at the First Methodist church Monday night. The affair was sort of a set-together of the group leaders and their "standbys," around whom the work of 1923-24 will be built.

To this first call of the year about 50 interested workers responded, and every fellow there had "work" for his middle name. Theodore Haig, president of the Hi Y in Glendale, greeted the boys, and explained the plans for the coming year. He gave a good account of the Hi Y training camp that was held at Catalina recently, there being many delegates from all over the state at this gathering.

Howard Butterfield, assistant coach at the Glendale high school, gave a talk on "clean sports," and Everett Anderson, who is group leader in Montrose, played the piano and led in the singing. The group leaders for this year's work are G. E. Murphy, W. J. Boyd, P. L. Hatch, Burt Rolf, Eugene Wolf, H. L. Butterfield and Everett Anderson.

A new feature of the Hi Y in Glendale will be that this year all of the groups will meet together at the Methodist church, rather than the meeting places being scattered around the various parts of the city. It is planned to have some special feature in the way of a speaker or a program at every meeting. Next week the Hi Y orchestra will make its appearance and be the feature of the evening.

WILSON AVENUE P. T. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Wilson Avenue P. T. A. had its first regular meeting of the season Monday afternoon with the president, Mrs. H. A. Thimm, conducting the business session and Mrs. A. H. Brown acting as secretary. Mrs. John Torrey gave the treasurer's report. Speakers of the day were Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the federation, who gave an excellent talk on co-operation, and Mrs. John Robert White who spoke on Child Labor. Mr. Merrill, acting principal of the school, told of congestion on account of an increased attendance of 24 per cent. At the close of the program an adjournment was taken to the cafeteria where refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. The association voted for a membership drive and also to give a series of card parties, one every two weeks, to raise money and promote sociability among members. The first party will be held next Monday at the home of Mrs. Bowlin on North Adams street.

REBEKAHS ARE BUSY THIS WEEK

Announcement is made that a dance will be given Saturday night in Odd Fellows' hall by the Oriental lodge of Los Angeles. In connection the Rebekahs will have a box social, the boxes to be auctioned off about 12 o'clock and after the auction there will be a "moon feast."

Tonight Rebekahs will have their drill practice in Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. Rosella Strother, deputy district president, will make her official visit to Carnation Rebekah lodge next Tuesday evening. She made her official visit on Fraternity lodge, Los Angeles, last night, and was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers.

THE WEATHER Southern California: Unsettled with showers tonight and Wednesday; moderate southwesterly winds.

MACHINERY HERE FOR GLENDALE AVENUE PAVING

Ferry Says One-half of Street Will Be Paved at a Time

A quantity of the machinery that will be used in the improvement of Glendale avenue has been unloaded from the Southern Pacific tracks in West Glendale, according to Peter Ferry, who has been awarded the contract for the work. Additional asphalt and macadam making machinery will arrive in Glendale within the next few days, says Mr. Ferry, who states that everything possible is being done to hurry up the work of improving Glendale avenue, which is one of the most important thoroughfares in Glendale at this time. The extremely poor condition of Glendale avenue is the principal reason for steps looking toward this work being hurried as rapidly as possible.

The work of laying pipe by the Southern California Gas company has extended as far north as Colorado street, where the street is being torn up preparatory to the laying of the mains. It is understood that just as soon as the laying of these mains has been completed, the work of paving will start. It is to this end that the contractors on this job are working.

One-half of Glendale avenue will be paved at a time, this being in order that traffic along that thoroughfare may not be completely stopped. The east side of the roadway will be paved first, it is understood. Just as soon as practicable after this is finished it will be opened for traffic and the western side will be closed for the work. The Glendale-Montrose Railway company, it is understood, will pave its strip in the center of the street at the same time that the outside roadways are being laid.

BOY FROM NAVY VISITING HERE TELLS OF WRECK

Donald Patterson, son of Mrs. A. R. Bullis, of 323 Road's End, spent the week-end with his mother and had interesting and pathetic details to relate of the wrecking of U. S. battleship off Point Arguello.

He is in the U. S. navy and was on the U. S. S. Wood in division 34 of the destroyer fleet in squadron 11. His group was just beyond the fleet that was wrecked and was moved by the wireless warning sent out by the wrecked ships. He says the scene at San Diego when the boats came in with the survivors could not be described. Women had distracted ran to and fro searching for a husband or a son who had been in the fleet. Donald is stationed at San Pedro and has been in the navy for some time. He expects to leave the service when his term expires in December.

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY

Principal Ferguson reports an auspicious opening of the night school at Glendale High Monday evening. In millinery classes there was an enrollment of 43; Spanish 30; mechanical drawing 32; business English and letter writing 20; arithmetic and mathematics 20; and quite a large group of gymnasium pupils.

Tuesday classes will open tonight and students will go directly to the rooms assigned for the various classes for enrollment. In the opinion of Mr. Ferguson the outlook for the school is very promising.

LOST IS FOUND WHERE IT WAS LOST

The lost is found. Mr. Toumy reported to the Glendale police that someone had taken his bicycle from in front of the Gateway market.

About 2 a. m. an officer of the Glendale force reported that he had found a bike at the same location. Maybe the lost was found before it was lost.

Our Schools and Colleges

SOUTHERN BRANCH
Amidst the guzzling of cider and the munching of apples and doughnuts, some two hundred Cub enthusiasts were treated to one large evening at the "Y" stag rally Thursday night in the men's gym. Les Cummins, student body president, broke loose with a pep-inspiring speech which, in the estimation of his close followers, was by far the best thing heard in these parts for some time. After pleasing with the men to come out for this or that activity on the campus, Les informed the crowd just how they stood or should stand for California.

"We want Californians who are proud of being members of the University of California at Los Angeles; and those who hesitatingly acknowledge this institution as a place to apologize for should get out. If necessary we will assist them in getting out."

Authentic figures from the recorder's office show the registration of 3,667 students in the university this far, an increase of 410 over the final figures for registration last September. Before registration closes the increase will no doubt be much greater. This figure up to Wednesday night included 1,784 new students, and 1,883 old students.

Showing the wonderful spirit of co-operation that exists between the University of California at Los Angeles and the parent institution in Berkeley, the local student body responded to the need for aid by raising $2,300 in less than 24 hours of actual work.

Although no call has come from the University of California, the people of the Southern Branch felt that the fire in Berkeley affected them as much as if it had happened to them. The time had come when something more than mere words of sympathy were needed.

Complete re-organization and systematizing of the work of the Phyllis club is planned by Jake Hamilton, '24, manager. A meeting of all old members and all others interested in semi-dramatics will be held in Millsap Hall auditorium next Monday at one o'clock. Plans for the coming year will be discussed and every member and more elevating entertainment than was provided last year is promised audiences this season.

Les Henry, '12, noted alumnus of Berkeley, was the principal speaker at the first student body assembly, held last Wednesday at one o'clock in Millsap Hall.

Freshman women will be guests of honor at a reception given by the A. W. S. in the Women's Gymnasium next Tuesday from 4 to 6 p. m. Every Freshman woman on the campus is included in the invitation.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

The Convenient Nursery
The New Baby, who was also the first baby, was almost as generously supplied with relatives as he was with garments. His parents were very young and fairly prosperous. Then there were two pairs of grandparents, who were tremendously interested in the New Baby.

The result was that the New Baby became the centre of attraction toward which the family gravitated.

The paternal grandfather, with a benign, "My boy, when my grandson leaves college I hope he will go into tea—with me," would draw the baby's father aside and tell him what a wonderful future there was in the tea fields—where he had spent years of his life accumulating wealth.

The maternal grandfather was just as anxious that the one and only grandson should follow the sea, as he had done. "Nothing like the sea to make a red-blooded man and develop muscle and brawn," he would chortle.

And meanwhile the New Baby was being passed from one relative to another, like a rare curio, to be admired and furtively dandled, until his young mother asserted her self and relegated the baby to the nursery—putting stern limitations upon visiting hours, and refusing utterly to allow the child to be showered with gifts and attention.

"New babies need hours of rest and quiet and no entertainment," she said, reading more or less from a book on the care and upbringing of children.

So the nursery was furnished in modern day fashion, to the keen disappointment of the maternal and paternal grandparents. They thought it looked very bare and comfortable indeed.

The room was large and well ventilated, and the sun was nearly always shining into it. There were dark shades at the windows, but no frilly curtains. There was an open fireplace, well screened to prevent flying sparks. Open fires help to ventilate as well as warm a room.

A thermometer hung three feet from the floor. The temperature of the room, until the baby was three months old, was kept between 65 and 68 degrees during the day, and about 65 degrees at night. It was never allowed to get above 70 degrees in the daytime. The windows were always open, unless the baby was being bathed. The baby had a plain, little, white bed with a flat hair mattress, and no head pillow. If a baby is allowed to sleep on a warm feather pillow his spine is curved, its head is too warm, and it has earache and snuffling colds in its head. Until a baby is six months old it should sleep without a pillow. After that the pillow should be flat and made of hair, so that the baby's head will not get too warm.

First the mattress was covered with a rubber sheet, then with a mattress protector, then with a cambric sheet, wide enough to tuck in well on each side of the mattress. The average nursery will need four mattress protectors, six small sheets, and four small blankets, also two small comforters. These may be made of cotton wool quilted lightly between layers of cheesecloth or silk. Most babies are covered too warmly by mothers who mean well. A light blanket and a little comforter are usually enough. Babies are often restless because they are too warm.

There was little furniture in this model nursery except the baby's bed, a table, and a chair without arms, a screen to protect him from draughts, a rack upon which his clothes were aired, a hamper basket containing his toilet articles, and his portable bath.

Editorials by the People

Eagle Rock, Sept. 24, 1923.

Editor of Press: The local representatives of the Bible Students' Association have asserted several times that I issued a challenge to them to answer my statements made in answer to Judge Rutherford's lecture at the Coliseum in Los Angeles. I would not consider it worthy of notice had it not been for the fact that my name has been used for the one purpose of making it seem that a great controversy is on between them and myself. The said challenge was never made by me. The statement is false. Judge Rutherford's name was not even mentioned in the lecture I gave on "The Great Modern Delusion." In advertising the lecture I quoted one of their stock phrases, "millions now living will never die." It is possible that this pet phrase is synonymous with the name of Judge Rutherford to these modern fanatics who have builded a system of philosophy, or rather a wild theory on a few verses which they have chosen at random.

The whole system is materialistic, unscriptural, unphilosophical, unscientific, a wild nightmare and the product of a mind dominated by a strange hallucination, unthinkable to any sober minded thinker. The God they portray is limited, has made many mistakes, has tried many schemes only to meet with confusion and embarassment, and at last must bring about a world catastrophe of slaughter and bloodshed that would shame the devil himself in heinousness and cruelty. But they are sure that a new who will accept their insane ideas may escape the chaos and fly away to some lofty perch in heavenly seclusion. Red-blooded men are ready to face the problems of this world and work them out as God intended they should. This is being done. The world is being awakened. Old despotic governments are passing away. Democracy is coming to her own. These old age-long institutions are not going to give up without a struggle. Chaos? Yes, every great advance progress has made has been attended with chaos and will be to the end of time.

Instead of preaching gloom and disaster and ruin as these prophets of despair are doing, we need men of vision, men who are not baffled before world problems, but who face them with undying courage and fortitude as our fathers did in this land in 1776. We are the product of men of courage, and not of prophets of despair. We are sons of heroes of faith, and not the propagandists of death.

It is time men speak out from burning hearts against this adulterated nonsense born in some obsessed brain or diseased mind.

Such trash is not worthy of notice, but as my name was used I felt that I owed this much to my own church and the people of my community.

E. MORGAN ISAAC.

TOOK THE STRING OUT OF BEANS

Few know that the man who took the string out of string beans was Calvin N. Keeney, of Le Roy, N. Y. says The Farm Journal. Keeney went through his bean patch and picked out the beans that were minus the strings. Whenever he found one he would save the beans and repeated this year after year, and eventually secured a supply of genuine stringless beans.

MISS MUHLEMAN GIVEN SURPRISE BY THE 'LEAGUERS'

Miss Helen Muhleman, who is leaving this city for an indefinite sojourn with her relatives in the California desert, was very pleasantly surprised by a handkerchief shower given in her honor by the Epworth League of the Central Avenue M. E. Church.

She was invited to dine in the city, and during her absence the guests arrived at her home. On returning she was most agreeably surprised as she entered her home by the exclamations of her many unexpected guests.

A most enjoyable evening was spent with plenty of games and good music.

The delectable refreshments consisted of brick ice cream and some delicious cakes baked by a few of the girl members of the League.

Miss Muhleman was again surprised when she was directed to a table laden with gifts. She opened them in the presence of all, and found herself the recipient of many beautiful handkerchiefs. These will serve to remind her that the league misses her and solicitedly awaits her return.

Those present were Misses Genevieve Zimmerman, Emily Kopp, Norma Wallace, Mary Bear, Ethel Leach, Nora Mathews, Carol Elighy, Cora Wood and Ana Louise Muhleman, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Baker, Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Seavey, Ruthford Wallace, Donald Frahm, Norman Frahm, Phillip Frahm, Albert Hewitt, Eugene Muhleman and Harold Williams.

TUESDAY CLUB OUTLINES WORK FOR NEW YEAR

The Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale will enter into the first winter in its new clubhouse on Tuesday, October 2, 1923.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell as president of the club, will extend greetings; Mrs. John C. Urquhart, state president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, will be the speaker of the day. On this date the opening luncheon will be given. Tickets for this occasion must be purchased from Mrs. Barton, social secretary, before Friday, September 29. A new plan to be adopted this year is a series of luncheons to be given on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, to be served at 12:30 and a nominal charge of 60 cents will be made. Luncheon tickets for out guests may be secured. Guests are eligible to attend once. As these luncheons are limited to 300 persons it is important that tickets be purchased the Fridays preceding the affair.

Many delightful and entertaining programs have been planned for the coming year by the able chairman of programs, Mrs. E. W. Hayward.

One of the brilliant speakers who has been secured is Miss Winnifred Rouzee, who will address the club November 13. Miss Rouzee has sojourned in Nanking, China, for the past year, and is at present in the Holy Land. She is an exceptionally fine speaker and her address will be entertaining and instructive. After the 13th of November, on the first and third Tuesdays, a non-sectarian and non-denominational Bible study will be conducted by Miss Rouzee at 10:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend this section. On the second and fourth Tuesdays, Mr. Gaze Christopher will lead the club in community singing. Mr. Christopher possesses a pleasing personality and a delightful voice, and it is assured that as much enjoyment will be derived from community singing this year as was last.

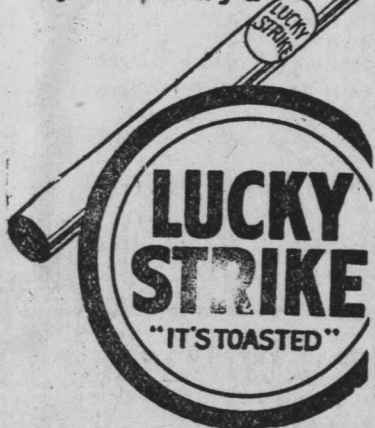

On Thursday, September 27, a board meeting and conference will be held at the club house. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, has the plans for the bazaar to be held Monday, November 16 and 17 well under way.

REX KELLEYS TO ENTERTAIN Y. M. C. A. BOYS

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kelley will on Thursday evening entertain the leaders of the younger boys in the Y. M. C. A. known as "pioneers." After plans have been discussed and agreed upon a call will go out for a meeting of all the groups some time next week. Pioneer leaders are Harry Marple, Howard Retberg, Mr. McMasters, Fred B. Taylor, Loren Scholtzshauer, J. F. Gosser, Mr. Ladd, Mr. Ehrhart, all of Glendale, and T. E. Stevenson and E. B. Thomas of Burbank. Mr. Kelley says he expects to draft a number of leaders from among the Y. M. C. A. boys at Occidental college.

FAREWELL SUPPER IN OLD CHURCH BUILDING

Over 400 shared in the pleasure of the farewell supper served by the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church Friday night as a grand finale before forsaking the old church building. Mrs. J. J. Davis, president, was assisted by all members of the Ladies' Aid in serving. The program was arranged as a sharing of reminiscences, but J. C. Sherer, who was to make the principal talk of the evening, was called away. James A. Newton read a most interesting account of former days in Glendale. Miss Gladys Ledy favored with some splendid readings. Dr. F. L. Ward of Eagle Rock, who was pastor of the Presbyterian church here before Rev. Edmonds, told of the beginning of the church. Everyone present had a friendly good time, and voted the supper "de-licious!"

A feeling of superiority is about all the satisfaction some people get out of being good.

CHORAL SOCIETY WAS LAUNCHED LAST EVENING

The Glendale Choral society under the auspices of Community Service was enthusiastically launched last evening at a meeting of the group selected by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell.

Two months ago Mrs. Mitchell was appointed by the Community Service chairman of music, Mr. A. L. Baird to organize a choral society. Mr. J. Arthur Myers, a well known and experienced director of the city had consented to direct the choral society throughout the coming winter. Mrs. Mitchell then secured Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb as accompanist.

All the members present last evening were very enthusiastic over the proposition and after a discussion as to the type of program to be undertaken, it was definitely decided that the new organization should begin at once on very worthwhile music for the city of Glendale and recruit to its membership all experienced singers in the city.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, president; Dr. John Anderson, vice president; Miss Marie Oliver, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Mottern, librarian.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman was appointed chairman of the program committee.

The first rehearsal of this singing organization will be held Monday evening, October 8, at the high school. It is the intention of the committee in charge to begin work on choral numbers to be used in a concert in November and also to take up choruses from the Messiah for the community Christmas celebration.

The choral society will meet each week and the executive committee of Community Service at its meeting yesterday noon enthusiastically endorsed the work done by Mrs. Mitchell in forming the chorus and pledged its support.

Mr. Baird, chairman of the music committee, announces that in addition to this choral society which will take up advanced music, there will be regular community sings at the high school.

ENGAGEMENT OF YOUNG COUPLE IS ANNOUNCED

At a luncheon at the Sunset Canyon Country club, on Sunday, September 22, the engagement of Miss Irene Whitaker, of 407 West Harvard street, to Charles W. Cannon of Salt Lake City, was announced. At each plate was a rose bud and ferns; in the heart of the rose the announcement was hidden. After luncheon, the very much surprised guests enjoyed themselves playing Five Hundred. The wedding, which will be a brilliant society affair, will be some time in November.

GULFS BETWEEN YOUTH AND AGE

The old fashioned diary in which one's daily doings and interests were recorded for the personal value of the record, has passed away with a lot of other things that furnished occupation for a leisure that has not place in modern life. When such records were made by persons who achieved celebrity by reason of their deeds or associations, such records as contributions to the world's gossip about persons and events became of great value.

In many cases, however, they served to make the writer self-centered and self-conscious, so the passing of the diary vogue is not altogether regrettable. But it would be a precious heritage if we could all revive memories of our points of view as children, of the ways in which we were hurt by the adults who ordered our lives. We could perhaps spare the children of our own the similar pang that we cause by our grown-up impressions of our own good sense, when we say, in answer to some childish protest, "We'll not talk about it any more. Mother knows best."

In acute cases the sting remains and becomes a permanent record even in the heart of the grown-up child. I remember a story told me by a woman who was a grandmother, about a certain beautiful little velvet dress which was hers as a small girl and which she was permitted to wear only on Sundays or festive occasions.

When it was likely to be soon outgrown and its newness was gone, she begged to be allowed to wear it to school because she loved it. But the sensible mother firmly said, "No, it must be given to some poor child for her Sunday best."

And so it was. The dear little dress was given to the poor child who at once began wearing it to the same school which the original owner was attending, clad in sober gingham. The hot rage that devastated her heart was still fresh in her memory when she told me the story.

LITTLE GIRL'S FROCK

For early fall a most attractive child's dress is of dark blue crepe de chine, with touches of cross stitching across the shoulders of the raglan sleeves.

Truths in Epigrams

From ignorance our comfort flows. The only wretched are the wise.—Matthew Prior.

I have read somewhere or other that history is philosophy teaching by examples.—Bolingbroke.

History hath triumphed over time, which besides it nothing but eternity hath triumphed over.—Raleigh.

SIDELIGHT ON RUSSIA

There are indications that economically Russia is making some progress. This has been due to its abandonment of communistic methods. The abandonment was occasioned by the fact that communism had failed. The fact had to be admitted by the leaders of the soviet regime, but even as they did so, they expressed regret at the necessity, and the hope that some day the hated capitalistic system might be cast aside once more.

It is true doubtless that people outside of Russia have misconceptions as to conditions there. They had to judge by what came under their observation. They saw food being sent thither to save the natives from starvation. They saw the shattered and maimed victims of the bolsheviks, who had escaped through terrors unprecedented. They were told about cruelties and murders uncounted. They had been horrified by the brutal ferocity with which the royal family had been slain. They could not imagine how a scheme that had devastated a fertile country, ended its industrial activity, killed its art and its letters, sent its intellectuals to death and exile, could be a very good scheme.

In the minds of the bolsheviks also have been misconceptions as to the world outside. They had declared themselves the enemies of orderly government, proponents of bloody revolutions everywhere. Yet the leaders expressed astonishment that prejudice against them should be entertained by the peoples it was calmly proposed to undermine and tumble into chaos. Far better for all that Russia should again be a producer. As a stable government, attending to its own business, it would be welcomed. The conviction is formed but slowly that its stability is possible. For this the soviets are to blame.

Out of Russia there has come just recently a doctor of international distinction. Because he had been known to the czar, at the fall of the czarist monarchy, he was cast into prison, where he was kept for months. He emerged with health sadly impaired and his fortune gone. He made his way to the United States, and here among strangers, must begin his professional life anew. His case is not unique. It is but one of the many that have seemed to throw light upon bolshevism. By these illuminations has the regime been judged, and condemned. If it is not inhuman in fierceness, measureless in its greed, malevolent in its plotting, then it has been misjudged. But the prejudice against it is deep-seated, buttressed by indisputable evidence, and a long term of good conduct will be essential as a preliminary to softening any part of the condemnation.

SHOOED FROM THE TROUGH

President Rivera of the Spanish directorate is busy separating official idlers from their unearned emoluments. Already he is said to have discovered 100 relatives of professional politicians drawing pay for doing nothing, although attached to the public health ministry by salaries. These have been "given the air" as the saying is, and face the prospect of having to go to work. With them went other thousands of attaches who had a habit of loafing in cafes, never going near the desks they were supposed to occupy. They were too shiftless even to draw their own pay, but sent commissioners to do this, giving a fee for the service.

It is probable that so far as turning out the useless hangers-on is concerned, there is no government in the world that could not with profit imitate the methods of Rivera. If there is a state or municipal government that does not keep superfluous individuals and groups at the public trough, it should make itself known and be awarded a medal or something. Rivera is supposed to have come into power for the purpose of heading off the radicals, but he seems to be a radical himself, after a fashion. At least those who have come into contact with his implacable axe doubtless would make such estimate of him.

The status of Rivera is not well understood by the world yet, but as a believer in economy, he is certain to win approval. He may even serve as an example.

HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS

An effort has been made to remove the height limit from buildings in Los Angeles. It seems to have failed, a result that will be generally satisfactory. Of course there is something to be said on both sides, but the preponderance of opinion favors the limitation. Towering structures are impressive. Their presence lends a metropolitan air. The effect of them is to make the streets dark, taking on the aspect of canyons. Medical authority affirms that the conditions produced are unhealthy.

In New York, where space is scant, compared to the demands upon it, the erection of tall buildings is almost unavoidable. There is not room for expansion in any direction but upwards. The ground has become so valuable that returns on the investment demand accommodations for many tenants. In Los Angeles, and other places in southern California, there is opportunity to expand indefinitely save as stopped by the Pacific. The problem of congestion, already serious, would be magnified many times, if the business area instead of seeking outlying territory, were confined to a comparatively few blocks.

The height now permitted allows the creation of thirteen stories. In one instance, by introduction of low ceilings and light floor material, there has been achieved a total of fourteen stories. To a visitor fresh from the metropolis the building no higher than this is bound to appear stunted, but he will get accustomed to it if he stays. A strict limit is likely to produce uniformity, since almost every structure will be planned for as many stories as possible, and this is an advantage artistically. There appears no reason for reproducing on this coast the towers of Manhattan.

THE SUGGESTION OF HOPE

A hopeful scientist suggests that the day is coming when scientific articles in the daily press will take precedence over sports, divorces and murders! As the gentleman is in the habit of basing his pronouncements upon demonstrated facts arrived at by research, perhaps he is not making an idle prophecy.

The rather sorry truth is that the ordinary individual is not in quest of instruction. The idea that knowledge has a value does not enter his head. He wants to be amused, or he wants to be shocked. He is flippant or morbid. Print a story of astronomical discovery, and by the side of it a narration of sordid crime, and he will turn to the latter. Having read it he will turn over the page looking for more of the same kind. If he so much as read the headlines over the scientific column it had led to the conclusion on his part that it was nothing he cared about.

There is a class of readers who would eagerly scan the finding of the scientific writer. The problem is how to make this class grow. To win members from the number who are now devotees of slush, would be an insuperable task in this century. Such a result might be attained by education continued through a period covering several generations. The scientist able to portray the necessary course of training would be greater than though he had found a new star in the heavens.

Boston's quota for Japanese relief was $255,000. The cash was raised at once, for the sum was underwritten by a dozen individuals and firms. Probably no city failed in raising its quota, but the example of Boston was fine, and suggestive for future emergencies.

The rumor that the Krupps are to establish a branch in Mexico, not far from the American line cannot be regarded as pleasing. However, the affair seems to be chiefly the concern of Mexico. If it desires the presence of such an institution, possibly the feelings of neighbors will not be regarded.

There is an element in Oklahoma that seems to desire the impeachment of the governor. The offense of this official, so far as may be judged from a distance, is that he has attempted to uphold the law in opposition to a secret organization that proposed to ignore the statutes, and be a law unto itself.

Geologists predict that decreased production of oil will come soon, and that after that, reserve supplies must be drawn upon. But as to what shall be done when the reserve has been exhausted, the learned gentlemen throw no light.

TRAMPS TO DATE

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"I've seen a million water bugs go scooting round and round and wondered what 'twas all about and what they'd lost or found."

That couplet occurs to me every time I see a flock of automobiles streaming past a given point and going out to the Lord knows where.

Why are all autoists in such a hurry? Where are they going and what are they going to do? Recently a man making a tour of the country undertook to ask questions about the tramps, scurrying automobile parties that are burning up good gas and wearing out the highways across the broad breast of these United States.

And what do you suppose he found? That many of them were going nowhere in particular, didn't know why they were in a hurry, had no plans and often no money. They were merely tramps on wheels and were getting across the country by the simple process of staying in different automobile camps until somebody bought them enough gas to take them on their way.

Most of them had failed in life and, thinking the matter over, had decided to turn to new fields in the hope of bettering their condition. In brief, the automobile has enabled entire families to take to the road and stay on it, foraging for food, begging, trading or getting along as best they may. The automobile tramps are addicted to movement and to nothing else. To date they have escaped too much notice in the public prints because little has been known of them. They are merely Gypsies who have taken advantage of modern invention to satisfy a craving for movement which gets them nothing, but feeds their hectic imaginations with the illusion that somehow, somewhere a man with the seeds of failure inside him can find a place where they will not sprout. It's a pitiful delusion.

Defends Animal Foresters

Squirrels, chipmunks and mice should be given a fair and impartial trial before they are condemned to extermination for destroying forests, according to Dr. J. V. Hofmann, director of the Wind River forest experiment station at Stahler, Wash. He accuses campers, seed planters and seed collectors as being moved by a personal grudge in their persecution of the rodents and offered in defense evidence that the accused animals are sometimes promoters of reforestation.

Researches, he says, have shown that the rodents in many cases distribute western yellow pine by caching seed where seed that merely fall on the surface would not have a chance to become established. It has also been found that the even-aged stands of Douglas fir which occur after forest fires are due to the seed stored in the forest floor before the fire by the rodents. Stands having as high as 40,000 seedlings to the acre where no seed trees and seed have been left by the fire, he attributed to the storing habits of these animals.

Dr. Hofmann admitted that direct seeding had been abandoned in certain sections owing to the destruction of the seed by these forest inhabitants and declared that those whose efforts at forest planting had been defeated in this way, had joined forces with campers who found "the aggressive companionable nature" of these woodland rodents a nuisance. Collectors of seed who find that the squirrels and other animals have already hidden the seed which they seek, condemn such rodent activity as wholly bad.

Dr. Hofmann urged a thorough-going investigation of the benefits as well as the damage which results from animal life of the forest.

THE LISTENING POST

The Ambassador of the United States handed the Japanese Premier a check for a million dollars.

Possibly you have never been handed a check for a million dollars. Few persons have. That is a sensation reserved for the very few.

But the circumstances of this case were unusual. It was no commercial transaction. The Ambassador was not buying anything.

Neither was the Prime Minister selling anything. It was a gift of friendship from one great people to another.

Of friendship and of sympathy.

One great people is a white people. A Christian people. Meaning that it professes to follow Christ. And to practice His teachings. And the other great people was a brown people.

Followers of Shintoism or Buddhism or Taoism. It matters not. For the leaders of both great peoples are seeking the truths of life.

Creed is the shell. Truth is the kernel. What matters the shell if the kernel be sound and wholesome and nourishing?

So was the check for a million dollars presented. Because one great nation was in distress and sorrow and need. Immediate need.

And the other great nation was prosperous and wealthy and with abundant stores and had suffered no great trials.

The check for a million dollars was only a small sum compared with the total sum raised voluntarily and gladly in this country for the sufferers in Japan.

The total sum has reached more than eight million dollars already. It probably will reach ten millions or more.

That is a testimony of the sympathy, the friendliness, the generous impulses of the American people.

Who are often careless. For long times thoughtless. Who are mercurial and erratic in their judgments sometimes, but always at heart sound and kind.

So the sympathy thus expressed will have its effect in creating a better understanding perhaps in the minds of the Japanese.

It will enlighten them as to the willingness of the United States to help. To assist in trouble. To help in need.

There is no desire on the part of the American people to take property from any nation. To take an unfair advantage. To make war.

To do other than render justice. And while we as Americans know that, other nations have not known it as well as we.

Japan will rebuild what is destroyed. She will emerge from this fiery trial stronger and better equipped than before.

But she will emerge also perhaps with a better understanding of the great nation to the west of her.

Which was concerned, not with her power, not with her strength, not with her navy or army, but with her need.

And helped succor that need.

How many years have slipped away Since this old planet, seamed and gray, Was but an atom none could trace Nursed on the boundless lap of space. No man can say.

How many years of joy and woe— Life's flood tide and its undertow dash Shall slip away o'er land and sea Until our world shall cease to be. No man can know.

Our real enemies are the enemies of mankind, and there are plenty of them. For instance, Dr. Copeland mentions the bubonic plague which is conveyed to us by the flea and the rat.

During the last four years some forty or fifty million cases of typhus in Russia, and deaths approximately nine million, have occurred in that suffering country.

The great battle is going on between the latest product of evolution, which is mankind, and its tireless enemy army, the insect and microbe world.

We are told that Beelzebub, one of the devil's names, means "the lord of flies."

This may be taken by extension to mean the ruler of the world of minute life forms.

At any rate we conceive of the devil as being the arch enemy of the human race.

And doubtless Beelzebub, the Napoleon of the insect forces, must smile as he sees the nations of mankind bristling and battling with each other. For it was one of the mottoes of Napoleon to "divide and conquer."

As long as the various groups of men are busy killing each other, the devil should not worry.

And it would certainly seem the part of wisdom on the part of men to forget their traditional and national differences and combine their forces under the leadership of science and common sense to attack their natural and real enemies among whom are the flies, the lice and the rats.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The Stokes divorce case is to be opened again. It is a shame that this should be so. That it is to be re-opened is the fault of a judge who in the former divorce action failed to sign the decree won by the wife.

This may be law, but it is not sense. A judge deserves rebuke if not impeachment for conduct productive of such results.

Because Stokes is a man of great wealth, long and detailed accounts were given of former proceedings. The trial brought to light the most contemptible intrigue designed to ruin the character of the woman. It was marked by perjury and plots. Yet the case was carried to a conclusion. That the decision should be voided through the neglect of a judge is not short of outrageous. The facts as ascertained, must still be the facts. The force that characterized them then has not been lost. What then was justice must be justice even to this day. Therefore the woman is entitled to the decree now, and to drag her through a second sordid course of publicity is shameful.

As said before, that which may be law is not necessarily sense. The thing to do with a fool law is to change it. The penalty for judicial error should fall on the judge, and not upon the innocent.

Scientists have been discussing the proper preparations of the soil for various crops. They have told how deleterious elements may be eliminated, explaining first how to determine their presence.

All this was interesting and highly useful. The city papers gave a few lines to it, which were so overshadowed by accounts of murders and other thrilling episodes, that probably not many saw them.

Collector Goodcell told an audience recently that politicians run this country, and they do. The reason is that only 30 per cent. of citizens take the trouble to vote. The politicians, however, are always on the alert, and they are sure that their faithful flocks appear at the polls, to drop an instructed ballot apiece.

There really doesn't seem much that can be done about it. People are aware that they are misgoverned pretty generally, but if they are too lazy to correct abuses, the case is hopeless.

The loafer is under a cloud about as big as a policeman's hand. There is no good excuse for loafing. Fellows who hang around, wearing good clothes, and doing nothing for a living so far as anybody knows, are being invited to tell the judge about it.

Gathering in these types has had one peculiar effect. It has lessened the number of bootleggers so much that the poison is rising in price. Also it must check the careers of bandits and thieves, for the idler who won't earn his bread, is getting it some other way.

It is said that an understanding between Germany, and France and Belgium, is possible. Also that the Germans are about ready to cry quits, and dig up some real money.

If the latter allegations are true, they furnish a basis for the other.

Perhaps Los Angeles merits an apology. It had been reproached for not raising its quota for Japanese relief. Whether this had any effect or not, the fact is that the city bucked up, and having reached its quota, showed no inclination to stop.

This region continues to be the white spot financially. There appears not the slightest reason to anticipate a change.

Visitors from the east express astonishment at the signs of prosperity so evident throughout the community, and perhaps venture to croak evil prophecy. But if they stay awhile and analyze the activity they see, they change their tunes. More likely than not they remain to get their share of prosperity, and by doing so swell the volume in which all participate.

"Mordre wol out, that see we day by day." So wrote Chaucer many years ago. Ever since then there has been a saying, passing as an axiom, "Murder will out."

Were Chaucer on earth now, he would look over the daily paper, any daily paper, and decide that his view had been formed hastily.

When Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles says that he has authority to dismiss a civil service employee at will, he either is wrong, or the good persons who devised civil service missed the mark.

The principal feature to commend in civil service is that it warns even mayors to keep their hands off, and causes invisible government much pain.

OUR CHILDREN By ANGELO PATRI A NEW WAY

It isn't fair to carry yesterday's sins over to today and demand a new repentance of them, another immersion in sackcloth and ashes. That makes a child feel that having offended once he has offended for all the time and that there is no use of his trying again.

"Now be sure that today you come straight home."

"Yes."

"Yes! That's what you said yesterday and what did you do? Went to the ball field and played until dark night. And I told you the last thing to come straight home and you said, 'yes' and that's all it amounted to. Never got home until dark night!"

Now the youngster had broken bounds the night before and had been soundly berated for doing it. This was another day and he ought to have been allowed to feel that it was a new day with new opportunities for making good.

But no; he is started with the notion that no matter how good his intentions, no matter how strong his promises, he is going to go wrong again. Yesterday's offense is given new life and strength for today's mistake.

When I was a little boy in the public schools we used to have slates. They had bright red flannel bindings and laced with black cord and boasted a rubber knob at each corner if they were very stylish.

I had trouble with long division. I'd make the same mistake over and over and smear my slate until it was a gray mass. Still I couldn't get the right answer and at last the teacher would say: "Let's take a nice new slate. A brand, speedy, new one from the closet. Now we'll have a new pencil out of the box. I'll write it down for you. There now! It'll come right now. See if it doesn't!"

Of course it came right. The shiny new slate; the teacher's smile; the fresh start cleared my brain and the answer came right every time.

Don't hold post mortems. Let the dead lie. When the child makes a mistake take down a new slate for him. Change his suit. Put on a new tie. Give him his breakfast on the porch. Change his seat in the classroom.

Do something that will symbolize the new slate and it will work! Work! Work! Work!

The old teacher I speak of had this sentence written on the board very often: "Every day is a fresh beginning; every morn is the world made new."

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR STREET WORK

A number of contracts for street work were awarded Monday night by the Glendale city council. Hugh Cornwell and John W. Henderson were awarded the contract for the improvement of Dorothy drive, Stocker street, portions of Kenneth road, Sonora, Tenth, Grand View, and Raymond. The improvement work on Raleigh and Adams streets will be done by E. L. Fleming. Peter Perry was awarded the contract for the improvement of alleys which constitute portions of Orange, Central, Maryland, Broadway, Harvard, Wilson and Brand, all in the business section. Mr. Perry was also given the contract for the improvement of Geall, Gilbert and Pacific, while Mr. Fleming got the contract for the improvement of a portion of Sycamore Canyon road.

The bid of the National Cast Iron Pipe company for a carload of pipe for the city was accepted, while the contract for the furnishing to the city of a carload of poles was awarded to the Charles R. McCormick company. C. H. Johnson was awarded the contract for the installation of a storm drain at the west end of Colorado street on the Gal property, the work to start at once.

A petition was received asking that San Fernando from Raymond to Allen be improved and the proceedings in connection with this work were ordered started.

The F. P. Newport company presented a petition asking that Canada boulevard from Glorietta to Verdugo road be improved, and the city engineer was instructed to draft the necessary proceedings. A petition from residents on Doran street, asking that their property be removed from the business district was received and referred to the city engineer.

Charles Thompson and the Hueser-Packard company were, jointly, the lowest bidders for the improvement of Colorado street and Sycamore Canyon road, but owing to some misunderstanding in regard to the water pipe that is to be laid along those streets, the awarding of the contract was held over until Thursday night. The matter will be threshed out in the meantime between the city attorney and a representative of the contractors.

A special meeting of the council will be held tonight for the purpose of considering the transferring of the water rights of the Belhurst tract to the city of Glendale. Attorney W. E. Evans will represent the Walter H. Leimert interests, it is understood.

Take a Dew Bath And Be Healthy?

By P. FELTON

We have howling greens, why not rolling greens?

I doubt if there is anything more healthful or more refreshing than rolling in the grass when it is heavy with dew. It is a great deal more healthful than the dip in the "old brine" or soaking one's self in the different springs impregnated with iron, sulphur, arsenic and other medicinal properties.

If you can't find a meadow to roll in, then just get under some dewspangled tree, shake the branches, and get a shower bath that will not only give you health and vigor, but as a beautifier, it is far ahead of the artificial beautifiers that you purchase at the drug store. No need for mascara for the lip, or rouge for the cheek—the dew will give you more than these.

Away back in the time when Cardinal Wolsey occupied Hampton Court Palace near the old River Thames—when the court at St. James, London, adjourned, the folks would hie themselves away to roll in the dew, and play bolle, and battledore, and shuttlecock. Anyone who has had the rare privilege of going through the Chronicles of the Palace will read how, for health and beauty's sake, they passed away the time dew-rolling. King, queen, princes, princesses, lords and ladies. Why ever that healthful pastime died out, I dinna ken.

I remember the tales old gossips told by the winter's hearth, "how maidens sprung from kings and princes and have 'stooped' from their high sphere, and would don the kirtle and tunic and would hie them away to the flower-spangled meadows to roll in the dew with the dairy-maids."

Queen Victoria, of loving memory, was a great believer in the efficacy of dew. Adeline Patti, Christine Nilsson, and others, who were noted for their beauty in the old age believed that the dew not only kept them in good health, but also youthful and beautiful.

So why not revive the dew bath? Shun inquisitive people; sooner or later you will be sure to discover that they have leaky mouths.

TO SET FARM LAND VALUES

Getting at standards of value in farm land appraisal that will take out some of the disparities in the handling of farm land valuations all over the United States is the object of a work now going on through the co-operation of federal authorities with the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Very complete questionnaires on farm land appraisals are now being sent out. The questionnaires aim to bring together a body of facts on which standards of farm land valuation can be built. The field of farm land appraisal, the National Association recognizes, is one in which practically no systematizing has as yet been done. The movement for developing more accurate bases for farm land valuation, expected to be a step of importance in putting the handling of farm properties on a basis commensurate with the methods already in practice in the handling of urban real estate, is going on under the auspices of the Farm Lands Division of the Association.

Mail Parcels Swamp Manila Postal System

MANILA, Sept. 24.—Collect parcel post packages to the amount of $515,000 were sent in 1922 from the United States to the Philippines; the business has grown so in the present year that its total for 1924 is estimated at $5,000,000. This would mean the handling and delivery of something like 2,000,000 separate parcels, and the Philippine postal authorities are wondering how they can meet these demands. Increased postal appropriations will be necessary, and the idea has been advanced in some quarters that the collect service should be discontinued.

ROUND TABLE FOR BOY SCOUTS HELD IN BURBANK CITY

The Troop Leaders' roundtable of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout council held its first meeting since summer vacations, Monday evening, September 24th at the Thomas A. Edison school in Burbank.

According to H. B. Robison, chief counselor of the roundtable the session last evening was perhaps one of the most profitable meetings which the roundtable has held. Most of the old members were out and there were a goodly number of new faces present.

E. B. Thomas, Scoutmaster of Burbank Troop No. 2, was the host. Of chief interest to the leaders was the discussion of the big district scout roundup which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening, September 29. Hal E. Leedom announced that hot coffee and cocoa will be served free of charge to the public and that sandwiches would be sold to defray this expense.

Four leading questions were put forth with the purpose in mind of provoking discussion among the leaders. The first question, "Is it advisable to organize athletics in troops?" resulted in the thought that athletics that are in the Scout program are taboo but that athletics under the competent supervision of experts such as the schools furnish was a very good thing.

"What about Sunday hikes?" was another question brought up for discussion. It was finally decided that overnight hikes which took the Sunday morning were not in accordance with the policy of the national council, B. S. A., and that if any Sunday hikes were to be taken they should be conducted on Sunday afternoon. Other questions that were discussed were "the possible formation of a mothers' auxiliary," "how Scout executive could be of more practical service to the field," and "the Scout Alumni club."

It was decided that the next session of the roundtable should be held at La Crescenta, Monday evening, October 15, Mr. C. W. Angier, scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, La Crescenta being named as host.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Socially and financially the benefit dance given by the La Crescenta Improvement association, at the school auditorium, last Saturday evening was one of the most successful affairs ever given in La Crescenta. The friendly co-operation of all residents in the valley and Montrose added much to the pleasure and success of the affair. One of the pleasing features of the evening was a short talk made by ex-District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine of Los Angeles. Mr. Woolwine stated he was a great admirer of the La Crescenta valley from a scenic and climatic standpoint, frequently coming to La Crescenta for a rest during his term as prosecuting attorney for Los Angeles county. Since his enforced retirement through illness Mr. Woolwine has visited many states, including his home state, Tennessee, trying to regain his health, but made little progress until his arrival in La Crescenta a few months ago. His statement that he hoped some day to own a home in La Crescenta was greeted with much applause. The cake raffle featured during the evening added materially to the benefit fund. The winners were Harvey S. Bissell, Arthur Alken, Mrs. R. Tocochke, T. O. Potts, C. Young and Don Hendrix. The refreshment table was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Alken, Mrs. J. Martin and Mrs. J. S. Erwin. C. E. Culbertson, president of the La Crescenta Improvement association, and the committee in charge, are very grateful for the splendid support given them in this affair. The entire proceeds, which will be announced later, will be used for the fire protection fund.

A change in the hours of the La Crescenta branch of the Los Angeles county free library is announced by Mrs. Mary Darrow, librarian. In the future the library will be open Tuesday, 7 to 9 p. m.; Friday, 7 to 9 p. m.; Saturday, 2 to 4 p. m.

Miss Heloise Le Clair of Los Angeles was a week-end guest of Miss Janet Culbertson of East Michigan avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culbertson of East Michigan avenue were hosts at dinner yesterday to a group of friends including Miss Heloise LeClair of Los Angeles, Mrs. Gertrude Hoggatt, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, Daniel Cook, Don Hendrix, Herbert E. Hoggatt and Wilfred J. Hoggatt of Juneau, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. C. Payton of Pasadena and a group of friends from Boston, Mass., were guests of H. A. Baldridge of Onondaka ranch last Saturday.

At the close of the first week's session of the local school the attendance registered 335 against 310 on the opening day.

GRAIN EXPORTS ARE INCREASING

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Glendale

Glendale, California,
September 24th, 1923

It is reported in the daily press that the industrial leaders of Los Angeles, the men who have changed their city, in the short space of ten years, from "A Playground for the Idle Rich" to the leading manufacturing city of the Pacific Coast, recognize that it is vitally essential to stabilize the city's present prosperity and have determined that the creation of new industrial enterprise is the most important depression insurance which can be provided. Accordingly, they will shortly launch an intensive drive to attract new and worthwhile enterprises to their city. This campaign will last over a period of three years, and will involve an expenditure of over $300,000.00.

If it is necessary for Los Angeles business men to take this step to increase their industrial enterprises, what about Glendale, which has not as yet an industrial plant of any size?

Many cities of the East and Middle West, no larger than Glendale, have payrolls, earned in industries located within their midst of upwards of $250,000.00 monthly.

WHY SHOULDN'T THIS COMMUNITY ENJOY THE SAME PROSPERITY?

We need industries whose products will find a ready market on the entire Pacific Coast, the West Coast of South America, the Orient, Mexico and the Countries of Central America.

We want enterprises which will employ only the highest grade of intelligent American labor.

The location of just one large factory in Glendale will attract others. Human nature is all alike; we hate to pioneer, but we rush in eagerly when the trail has been blazed.

A large and substantial business firm, manufacturing a line of heavy duty motor trucks, located in Northern California for the past three years and desiring to expand has looked with favor upon Glendale as a location for their new $300,000.00 plant. Their product is well and favorably known, and is especially adapted for service in rough mountainous country, in sandy desert work and wherever the roads are of a negligible quality.

The Rogers Una-Drive Motor Truck Corporation has negotiated a ninety-eight-year lease for a nine-acre site, on the San Fernando Boulevard at the foot of Colorado Street. On this magnificent industrial site will be built the three units of their immense new factory. The contract for the first unit of this plant has already been awarded, and the actual construction work will be commenced about the middle of October.

We have carefully investigated the Corporation's plans for expansion and have found them to be safe and conservative. We believe that the volume of their sales will be governed only by their ability to produce, and we have, therefore, heartily endorsed their plans and the project by becoming identified with them, both financially and as members of their Board of Directors.

Briefly, the plan of expansion provides for a moderate increase of liquid capital to take care of further building, the purchase of additional machinery and the necessary working capital. This money is to be raised by the sale of their securities and a limited amount is to be offered to Glendale and the surrounding community. Therefore, upon the showing which they have made and backed up by our own investigations, we do not hesitate to commend this project from an investment standpoint to all of our citizens.

THIS IS OUR GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE OUR FIRST BIG INDUSTRIAL ENTERPRISE. Shall we look up, over and beyond the horizon of our present vision, put our shoulder to the wheel, give this worthy enterprise the assistance and help which they are entitled to, and secure a monthly payroll of $75,000.00 for Glendale? The Company has shown their faith in Glendale; let us show an equal amount of faith in them.

Let us make this a Glendale enterprise, financed largely by Glendale capital, giving employment to a large number of our citizens, a Company to be managed and directed by a Board of Directors, a majority of whom are Glendale business men.

We feel certain that this enterprise is bound to become one of the biggest industries of its kind on the Pacific Coast, a credit to Glendale and a source of considerable revenue to the holders of its securities.

Respectfully yours,

GLENDALE MEN IN BURBANK AUTO CRASH

Locals to Meet Fullerton and Oxnard This Week in Practice Tilts

Two Glendale men, J. J. Koegel of the Doughboy bakery, 1153 N. Central, and James Vorwerk of 715 North Maryland were in an auto accident Saturday night that came high being a tragedy. Vorwerk was at the wheel of Koegel's Overland and they were coming east on Tenth street at a moderate pace, Koegel says, about 18 miles an hour, returning from a business trip to Burbank, when at the crossing of Cypress, in the city named, a Ford coupe driven by H. L. Evans, Jr., of 311 South Kingsley Drive, Los Angeles, coming from the north, struck them without any warning being given, Koegel says. The Overland was thrown on its side and turned entirely around. Damage to the extent of $175 was done it. The Ford, which Koegel told the Burbank police officers who were called to the scene, Chief Long and Officers Tupper and Miller, was going 30 miles an hour, rolled over two or three times and when it came to a stop was headed north. It was a complete wreck. Strange to say not one of the three men was injured beyond slight bruises and cuts from flying pieces of glass.

There were three at the little table in the cafe, a girl and two men. Suddenly the lights went out and the girl drew back quickly. An instant later there was the smack of a compound kiss. As the lights went up each man was seen smiling complacently. "I thought I heard a kiss," said the girl, "but nobody kissed me." Then the men glared at each other and flushed.

If a man is wise and good he is wiser and better because of the friends he has.

LEGION NEWS

[By Associated Press]

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 24.—American Legion posts in all parts of the country are preparing to observe Armistice Day with parades and ceremonies in honor of those who died in the world war.

Gariand W. Powell, director of the Legion's national Americanism commission, has suggested a general program. Observances will start at 10:30 a. m. with the invocation followed by music. Then the post commander or presiding officer will deliver an address. At eleven a. m., the hour when the guns stopped firing on the western front, the gavel of the president of the officer will fall and all will stand with bowed heads while a silent prayer is offered for those who made the supreme sacrifice. At the end of thirty seconds the gavel will fall again and the program will be resumed.

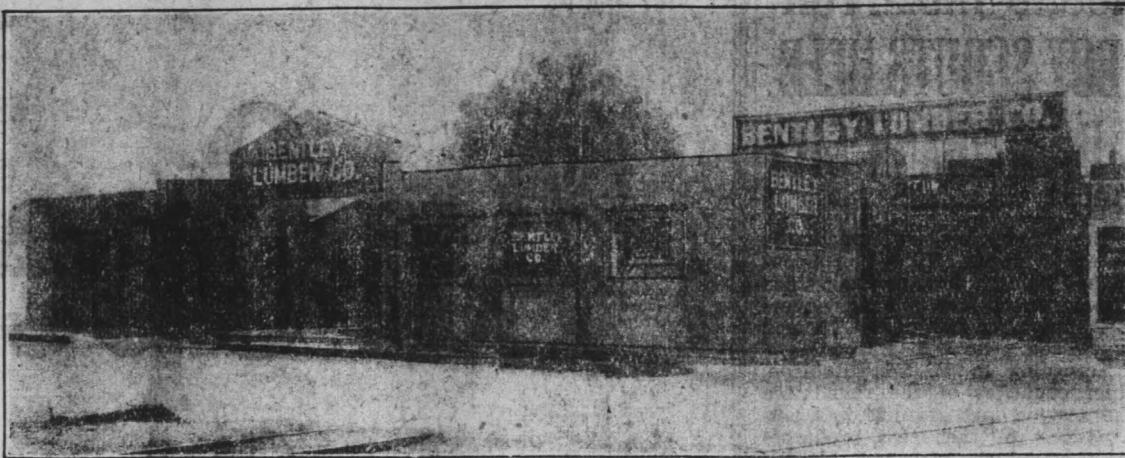

Roll call of the men who went to war from the community will be read by the post adjutant. With the reading of each name, Legionnaires designated by the post commander will give a brief outline of the man's war record. Then will follow the remarks of the speaker of the day and the singing of the national anthem.

Veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars will march in front of those who fought in the recent war. The co-operation of all fraternal, civic, patriotic and other organizations will be asked by the Legion for the event.

"Armistice Day is truly a day of thanksgiving," Mr. Powell says. "Brought about directly by the men who so ably defended their country, it is a day of great rejoicing. It brought to an end the world's greatest conflict and spelled the defeat of autocracy, selfishness, greed and oppression. It carried forward Christianity, justice and liberty."

Comrade D. S. McCarty, chairman of entertainment committees of Los Angeles post No. 2, American Legion, accompanied by Comrade Bob Wilson of the same post, personally extended to all members of Glendale post No. 127 a cordial invitation to be its guest at an entertainment to be given by the former on September 27, 1923, at the Disabled Veterans' hall, 246 South Hill street, Los Angeles, at 8 p. m.

Jim Collins, the newly elected department commander, and Mrs. Martha Decker, president of the American Legion auxiliary, department of California, will be honored guests and will afford all American Legion members an opportunity to see and hear why they were both elected to office at the recent state convention.

Mr. McCarty is a seasoned showman of twelve years' experience in a large eastern city, and stated that the program will consist of nothing but professional acts.

Commander Day of Glendale Post No. 127 has appointed Comrade Fortier chairman of a committee to advise all local members of this invitation to meet Jim Collins and enjoy the several surprises and the hospitality of Los Angeles Post No. 8.

Hollywood Post No. 43, American Legion, has extended a most cordial invitation to Glendale Post No. 127 to join them in a joint meeting of all the American Legion posts in Los Angeles county at the Hollywood Legion stadium on Monday, October 1, 1923.

The purpose of this meeting is merely to get together and enjoy a social evening of meeting comrades and starting acquaintanceships which may easily be profitable to not only the Legionnaires who attend, but to the American Legion of the county as a whole. Bob Jennings, who is well known to the public, being a former outlaw, will be the speaker of the evening and other interesting features and stunts are planned.

Comrade Ryland Sizer, the newly appointed membership adjutant of Glendale Post No. 127 is formulating plans to boost the membership of the local post in a fashion such as only a real Legionnaire is capable of. By way of co-operation, several members have already supplied Comrade Sizer with the names of prospects for membership.

Very important business is scheduled for the next Friday evening meeting of Glendale Post No. 127 and Commander Day particularly urges every member to be present and participate.

Captain Whelon of the Glendale Post No. 127 basketball team, is raring to go after the big cup in this season's race. The Glendale Post captured the small cup last season but Captain Whelon stated that nothing but the big cup would do this coming season.

The Glendale Post No. 127 banquet is scheduled for October 26th at the Tuesday Afternoon club, when it is planned to have State Commander Jim Collins and other important features. Second Vice-Commander Packer is chairman of this annual chow fest.

Applications from the following new members were accepted at the last regular meeting of Glendale Post No. 127:

Edward Gordon Russell, 522 Palm drive, who served with the 172d Aero Squadron.

John D. Shindler, from Weatherford, Texas, who served with the 1st Gas Regt.

John Blair Tait, 742 W. Doran street, who served with Co. F. 2d Engineers.

Frank A. Platner, 234 N. Jackson street, formerly with Medical Dept. attached to 9th Engineers.

Harold J. F. Hanemann of Student Army Training Corps.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—General Joseph Haller, commander of the Polish army in France during the world war, will be a distinguished guest at the American Legion's national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, it was announced today by Legion state headquarters here. General Haller became one of the best known war leaders during his command of 100,000 Polish volunteers fighting on the western front. His command included 25,000 Americans of Polish descent. With the retirement of General Plawski, he became ranking officer of the Polish army, holding the grade of inspector general. General Haller will land in New York a short time

DRY CLEANING WORKS OF FANSET SET STANDARD

The woman who chooses a careful, efficient dry cleaner and sends her clothes regularly, finds that she is always able to dress neatly and attractively, and that her garments will last twice as long. There is no use trying to take out spots and stains at home, as the results are usually unsatisfactory. With such well equipped dye works as John H. Fanset conducts at 213 East Broadway, there is no reason why every woman should not keep her wardrobe up to the acme of neatness. The Fanset dye works has stood for the better quality of cleaning since its establishment here a number of years ago. It has grown in space with Glendale, until it is today one of the most modern equipped plants that could be desired. Only the purest cleansing fluid is used, more effective than the hottest water and strongest soap, yet absolutely dry, and safe for use on the most delicate and shirababla fabrics. The new system which has just been installed keeps the cleansing fluid clean at all times, and the clothes are never left with an unpleasant odor. Wherever Mr. Fanset's customers are found, satisfaction is their by-word.

before the Legion convention and will proceed to San Francisco after a short visit to Washington to pay his respects to President Coolidge and at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Following the convention he will make an extensive tour of American cities under the auspices of Legion posts and units of the Polish Army Veterans' association of America. The tour will include the following cities: Omaha, St. Paul, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, Wilkesbarre, Baltimore, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. On Armistice Day General Haller will attend a great mass meeting to hold in his honor in Chicago.

"HOW TO KNOW GOD'S WILL," REV. COLE'S SUBJECT

Rev. Cole's morning sermon theme at Central Christian church Sunday was "How to know God's will." He first told of George Mueller, the London philanthropist who raised over five millions of dollars and cared for more than 10,000 orphans therewith, yet all these vast sums came to him in answer to prayer. Commenting on this the speaker said that nine-tenths of our difficulties are over when we know God's will.

"Mueller said there were certain things we must do to be certain that we know God's will. One is to obey. That little word of four letters is the biggest one in the English language and it is given emphasis again and again in both the Old and the New Testament. It was through Adam's disobedience that death came into the world and through Christ's obedience that death was conquered.

Another necessity is to study God's word. The New Testament contains the will of God for us and as Christ did His will in all things, so must we. The Master's teachings tended toward obedience to God's will in service to mankind. As He said: 'It is not the will of the Father that any should perish.' But the one sure way to know God's will is by prayer—persistent, humble, yet fervent prayer. Jesus prayed all night many a time and was almost constantly in communication with the Father. Paul wrote more than once to his children in the gospel. 'I remember you in my prayers unceasingly.' If we persistently take our perplexities to the Father in prayer, He will let us know His will in His own good time."

The evening service was in honor of the young folk of the congregation who are in college. Nine of these were on the rostrum and made brief addresses on why they chose college life or what college meant to them. Then Rev. Cole closed the service with a ten-minute talk on "Be Prepared," which was an epitome of his address to the International convention of Disciples of Christ at Colorado Springs, Colo., on "Training for Leadership."

ROGER UNA-DRIVE TRUCK PUT THRO PAGES SATURDAY

Oscar G. Briggs, lecturer for the Roger Una-Drive Truck pointed out the many unique and striking features of this motor transport vehicle that is to be manufactured in Glendale, as the company's expert driver put the three-tone wonder through its paces last Saturday before an interested crowd at Harvard and Brand.

The truck was maneuvered about as a skilled equestrian reins his mount into seemingly impossible postures, and excited the admiration of seasoned drivers as well as those unacquainted with the tricks of a steering wheel. It was driven over a high curb, one and two wheels at a time, and backed down again easily and lightly, showing the control exercised by the powerful brakes, which have a gripping surface of 780 square inches, as contrasted with a much smaller braking surface in other trucks of the same size.

Some of the features dwelt upon by the lecturer were the Roger steering ball joint, the double reduction axles in front and rear, the positive self-locking differentials that insure an even pull on every wheel under all conditions, and the double water-cooled transmission.

Another marked improvement to be embodied in this new departure truck is the set of under-slung springs which will relieve the other springs and the frame, as well, of all strains and stress. There is a system of separate, additional spring suspension for radiator, engine, primary transmission and rear end, which will be a feature of the new models.

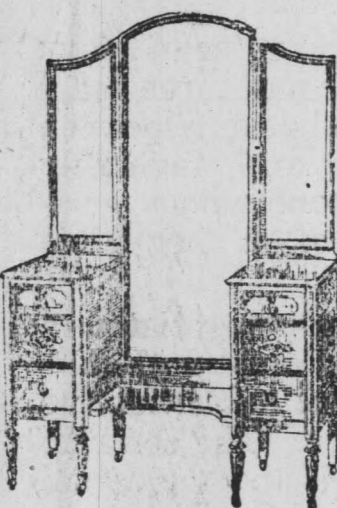

The factory for the making of this new "truck" is to be erected soon at Colorado and S. P. tracks.

BABSON SAYS THRIFT WILL HELP BUSINESS

He Sees Improvement in Increased Bank Deposits

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Sept. 25.—Helping business by saving money instead of spending it may sound strange but that is what Roger W. Babson, the statistician, proposes today, in a statement on the investment value of savings accounts.

"Why it is that people differentiate between bank accounts and investments is more than I can comprehend," says Mr. Babson. "Apparently men and women feel that the money which they have in the bank is not 'invested.' They seem to think of it as tied up in bags in the vault of the bank. The fact is that just as soon as you deposit a dollar in the bank, that dollar is loaned by the bank to some one to build a home, or to buy merchandise, or is used for the purchase of bonds. When these funds are bought, the money is still used by the company issuing the bonds—perhaps for the development of a water power or the laying of railroad equipment or some other equally useful purpose. Therefore, money deposited in a bank is invested just as truly as any other money. The main difference is that it is invested by some one with experience and training instead of by one who may know little of financial matters.

"Bank accounts have all the advantages of the most attractive investments. Among these may be mentioned the following three: (1) Bank accounts are safe. Statistics would probably show that smaller losses come from bank accounts than from any other field of investment. (2) Bank accounts are very liquid—that is to say, we can quickly get our money at any time. Other forms of investment may be 'permanent' investments. Many of them are so permanent that they cannot be liquidated when desired. (3) Bank accounts offer a good opportunity for speculative profit. This may seem a strange statement but let us examine it.

"The real opportunities to make money are through changes that come to take partnerships, to make special purchases or to do other things, which, if undertaken, often bring success. One never can tell when these opportunities will come at they do come to each of us two or three times in the course of our lives. They almost always require a certain amount of capital. Perhaps the new positions offered means working for less than a living wage for a while. Perhaps it seems a year or more for travel or study. The man with a bank account can finance the venture but he man without a bank account cannot. Therefore, I say that a bank account offers an opportunity or speculative profit because it puts one in a position to make a big profit when the opportunity comes.

"I especially emphasize the importance of bank accounts at the present time because many people have not increased their bank accounts materially since the low prices of ten years ago. For a great many years prices ran along a certain level and people got into the habit of carrying about so much in their savings accounts and certain amount in their checking account. All business men, from the large manufacturers to the humblest retailers, felt that a bank account of a certain size was about what he should carry and he has held the same idea up to the present time. Yet, during the past ten years, prices have increased from fifty to a hundred or more per cent, according to the commodity considered. Taking into consideration all factors entering into the cost of living, the dollar of ten years ago is worth only about sixty cents today. As prices increase we should increase our bank accounts to correspond. We take out increased insurance today on a building which was built ten years ago even though it was then insured for all it cost. The fact is that the cost of building has gone up and if we had a fire we would have to rebuild at much higher prices. Therefore, we insure not on the basis of the cost of ten years ago but on the basis of replacement as of today. It seems to me that we should follow the same principle regarding our bank accounts.

"One great trouble with business today is the amount of money being wasted on things of only temporary value and the small proportionate amount which is being banked for things of more permanent value. This is one reason why the Babsonchart has again so radically declined, standing today at 10 per cent below normal compared with 9 per cent above normal in February. Just as things got better under the first of the year, people again got careless, bank deposits fell off and the safety valve began to let off steam. Increased bank balances would help start business up toward normal again."

A Hebrew and a Scotsman were partners. As may be imagined, there were frequent disagreements over the division of profits, which took place weekly. However, things went on fairly satisfactorily until Jacobs was compelled, much against his will, to go away or a week.

"I must leave it to you, said he addressing his partner. 'But

SYNOPSIS

In the whole of Paris could hardly be found three more contented young Englishmen than the trio of artists, popularly known as Taffy, the Laird, and Little Billee, who shared a certain big studio in a side street of the quartier Latin. Taffy, sometimes called the Man of Blood, because of his supposed relationship to a baronet, was a blond giant from Yorkshire. Sandy, the Laird of Cockpen, hailed from Dundee, and Little Billee, the youngest of the three, a slight youth of about twenty, had recently come down from London to study at Carvel's.

Among the occasional visitors to the studio was one Svengali, a sinister-looking man, with long black hair and beard, whose presence was endured only because of the divine music he could create. He came in one afternoon with one of his pupils, Gecko, a little violinist. Svengali fell to playing Chopin's impromptu in A flat; then he and Gecko played together, so exquisitely that the three Englishmen were left spellbound.

The silence was suddenly broken by an energetic rapping at the door and a loud cry, "Milk below!"—the British milkman's yell. Then the door opened and a strange figure appeared, that of a tall, well-formed girl, clad in the gray overcoat of a French infantry soldier, a short striped petticoat, and a huge pair of men's slippers, her white ankles showing above them.

As the creature looked round at the assembled company and flashed her big white teeth at them in an all-embracing smile of uncommon width and quite irresistible sweetness, simplicity, and friendly trust, one saw at a glance that she was out of the common clever, simple, humorous, honest, brave, and kind, and accustomed to be genially welcomed wherever she went. Then suddenly closing the door behind her, dropping her smile, and looking wistful and sweet, with her head on one side and her arms akimbo, "ye" she exclaimed, "I heard the music, and thought 'I'd just come in for a bit, and pass the time of day; you don't mind? Trilby, that's my name—Trilby O'Ferrall."

She said this in English, with an accent half Scotch and certain French intonations, and in a voice so rich and deep and full as almost to suggest an incipient tenor robust; and one felt instinctively that it was a real pity she wasn't a boy, she would have made such a jolly one.

"We're delighted, on the contrary," said Little Billee, and advanced a chair for her.

But she said, "Oh, don't mind me; go on with the music," and sat herself down cross-legged on the model-throne near the piano.

As they still looked at her, curious and half embarrassed, she pulled a paper parcel containing food out of one of the coat pockets, and exclaimed:

"I'll just take a bite, if you don't object. I'm a model, you know, and it's just rung twelve—the rest, I'm posing for Durien, the sculptor, on the next floor. I pose to him for the altogether."

"The altogether?" asked Little Billee.

"Yes—l'ensemble, you know—head, hands, and feet—everything—especially feet. That's my foot," she said, kicking off her big slipper and stretching out the limb. "It's the handsomest foot in all Paris. There's only one in all Paris to match it, and here it is," and she laughed heartily (like a merry peal of bells), and stuck out the other.

And in truth they were astonishingly beautiful feet, such as one only sees in pictures and statues—a true inspiration of shape and color, all made up of delicate lengths and subtly modulated curves and noble straightnesses and happy little dimpled arrangements in innocent young pink and white.

So that Little Billee, who had the quick, prehensile, aesthetic eye, and knew by the grace of Heaven what the shapes and sizes and colors of almost every bit of man, woman, or child should be (and so seldom are), was quite bewildered to find that a real, bare, live human foot could be such a charming object to look at, and felt that such a base or pedestal lent quite an antique and Olympian dignity to a figure that seemed just then rather grotesque in its mixed attire of military overcoat and female petticoat, and nothing else!

Poor Trilby! The shape of those lovely slender feet (that were neither large nor small), fastidiously in dusty, pale plaster of Paris, survives on the shelves and walls of many a studio throughout the world, and many a sculptor yet unborn has yet to marvel at their strange perfection, in studios despair.

For when Dame Nature takes it

you keep the books straight."

The time passed all too slowly for Jacobs, who was unable to sleep on account of his anxiety. At last, the week over, he returned, and, rushing into the or-into her head to do her very best, and bestow her minutest attention on a mere detail, as happens now and then—once in a blue moon, perhaps—she makes it uphill work for poor human art to keep pace with her.

It is a wondrous thing, the human foot—like the human hand; even more so, perhaps; but, unlike the hand, with which we are so familiar, it is seldom a thing of beauty in civilized adults who go about in leather boots or shoes.

So that it is hidden away in disgrace, a thing to be thrust out of sight and forgotten. It can sometimes be very ugly, indeed—the ugliest thing there is, even in the fairest and highest and most gifted of her sex; and then it is of an ugliness to chill and kill romance, and scatter young love's dream, and almost break the heart.

And all for the sake of a high heel and a ridiculously pointed toe—mean things, at the best!

Conversely, when Mother Nature has taken extra pains in the building of it, and proper care or happy chance has kept it free of lamentable deformations, indurations and discolorations—all those gruesome boot-begotten abominations which have made it so generally unpopular—the sudden sight of it, uncovered, comes as a very rare and singularly pleasing surprise to the eye that has learned how to see!

Nothing else that Mother Nature has to show, not even the human face divine, has more subtle power to suggest high physical distinction, happy evolution, and supreme development: the lordship of man over beast, the lordship of woman over all!

En volée, de l'éloquence—a propos de bottes!

Trilby had respected Mother Nature's special gift to herself—had never worn a leather boot or shoe, had always taken as much care of her feet as many a fine lady takes of her hands. It was her one coquetry, the only real vanity she had.

Gecko, his fiddle in one hand and his bow in the other, stared at her in open-mouthed admiration and delight, as she ate her sandwich of a soldier's bread and fromage à la crème quite unconcerned.

When she had finished she licked the tips of her fingers clean of cheese and produced a small tobacco-pouch from another military pocket, and made herself a cigarette, and lit it and smoked it, inhaling the smoke in large whiffs, filling her lungs with it, and sending it back through her nostrils, with a look of great beatitude.

Svengali played Schubert's "Rosemonde," and flashed a pair of lan-yelled the tawny black of Svengali's big eyes. He was so fond of making fun of others that he particularly resented being made fun of himself—couldn't endure that any one should ever have the laugh of him.

At length Little Billee said: "Thank you so much. It is a capital song."

"Yes," said Miss O'Ferrall. "It's the only song I know, unfortunately. My father used to sing it, just like that, when he felt jolly after hot rum and water. It used to make people cry; he used to cry over it himself. I never do. Some people think I can't sing a bit. All I can say is that I've often had to sing it six or seven times running in lots of studios. I vary it, you know—not the words, but the tune. You must remember that I've only taken to it lately. Do you know Liliott? Well, he's a great composer, and he came to Durien's the other day, and I sang 'Ben Bolt,' and what do you think he said? Why, he said Madame Albani couldn't go nearly so high or so low as I did, and that her voice wasn't half so strong. He gave me his word of honor. He said I breathed as natural and straight as a baby, and all I want is to get my voice a little more under control. That's what he said."

gushing black eyes at her with intent to kill.

But she didn't even look his way. She looked at Little Billee, at big Taffy, at the Laird, at the casts and studies, at the sky, the chimneys, pots over the way, the towers of Notre Dame, just visible from where she sat.

Only when he finished she exclaimed: "Male, aïe! c'est rude-ment bien tape, c'te musique-là! Seulement, c'est pas gai, vous savez! Comment ça s'appelle?"

"It is called the 'Rosemonde' of Schubert, matemoiselle," replied Svengali. (I will translate.)

"And what's that—Rosemonde?" said she.

"Rosemonde was a princess of Cyprus, matemoiselle, and Cyprus is an island."

"Ah, and Schubert, then—where's that?"

"Schubert is not an island, matemoiselle. Schubert was a compatriot of mine, and made music, and played the piano, just like me."

"Ah, Schubert was a monsieur, then. Don't know him; never heard his name."

"That is a pity, matemoiselle. He had some talent. You like this better, perhaps," and he strummed.

"Messieurs les étudiants, s'en vont à la chaumière Pour y danser le cancan."

American Wives of Titled Britons Ask Removal of Uncle J. L. Brees, as Trustee of Estate

WARNING ISSUE D AS TO SALES TAX

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodell issued a warning yesterday to thousands of sales tax payers in Southern California that their returns and payments of tax for August must be in his office or in the hands of his deputies in branch offices on or before September 30, to avoid penalties of 25 per cent and 5 per cent, and a specific penalty of $1,000. This class of taxpayers includes manufacturers of automobiles and parts and accessories, candy and all other persons manufacturing taxable articles: theaters, country clubs, jewelers, manufacturers of syrups, soft drinks and carbonic acid gas; ticket brokers and telephone and telegraph companies.

"These penalties," said the collector, "are not at my option or pleasure, but are imposed by law. It is my desire to collect taxes, not penalties, and for that reason I urge all such taxpayers to make their returns and payments within the time prescribed by law. If they don't, I can not avoid assessing penalties."

prevent penalties.

Stamp tax sales in the Southern California internal revenue district for the present calendar year, up to September 1, were $1,363,354.27, compared with $987,362.18 for the corresponding period of 1922, a gain of $365,992.09 or 36.7 per cent, according to a special report sent to Washington yesterday by the collector.

These stamps are used on conveyances, notes, capital stock transfers and many other kinds of business transactions, and the gain of 36.7 per cent indicates a proportionate increase in business activity.

There had been a great cricket boom in Shilpton and the club had so many members that it scarcely knew what to do with them. With the increased funds they hired a groundsman and also a horse to pull the roller. To be frank, the horse was very "second hand."

A few days later the groundsman approached the secretary, an anxious look on his face.

"Wot I wants to know, sir, is this," he began nervously, "o's to blame if that oss meets with a haccident?"

"Why, you are responsible of course," replied the secretary. "The horse is in your charge."

"Then I give notice!" exclaimed the groundsman indignantly. "The brute 'asn't speed enough to get out o' the way of the roller, and one o' these days, I'll run 'im down and fatten 'im out!"

CALTECH PIGSKIN REDS REMAIN IN WARRIORS LOOK MIGHTY GOOD RUNNING BY WIN OVER N. Y. GIANTS

Engineers Preparing for First Game With U. S. C. Trojans Saturday

While the other conference teams are shouting with joy or moaning with despondency at the prospects for the coming season, the Caltech Engineers are just working—and saying nothing. Out at Tournament park, Pasadena, where the Engineers are practicing, there is evidence of some mighty hard work for Coach Fox Stanton is preparing his men for their first game Saturday with U. S. C. To be sure, it is only a practice game, but nevertheless, the Technician mentor wants his men to show up to the best advantage. Stanton says nothing about prospects—just works, but his gang of pigskinners look mighty good, fine enough in fact, to make a mighty strong bid for the conference rag this season.

Seven of the eleven positions on the Fox's tentative first line-up are filled by veterans hailing from last year's eleven. Captain Moyses at tackle looks like Stanton's best all-around man. He is hefty, exceptionally fast, and has a world of football experience behind him. He may be counted on to give any lineman plenty to think about. Moyses is a "rock" boy, and a former Glendale high school football star. Alderman, who played the other tackle last season, has been shifted to develop into a very valuable back. He weighs 190, and can step with the fastest of the other players on the squad. He will be one of the main cogs in the Engineers' backfield this fall.

"Stupe" Foster and Maury Goldsmith, both lettermen, are taking turns with the signal calling. Fred Groat is playing one half and Stew Johnson and Jack Baker are alternating at the other.

Harold Beck has first call on the center position. Seymour "Pat" Baker, Hill and Anderson are fighting it out for the guard berths. Stein, hailing from last year's freshman squad, is lining up at tackle; Brunner playing one end and Helmes and Henderson are after the other wing position, with promise of more competition in the near future.

"Shorty" Beeson and Springer, veterans of the Caltech squad of two years ago, donned the mole-skins yesterday, and although they are getting away to a late start, will make a strong bid for varsity berths. Beeson's favored position is fullback, while Springer has played at both guard and tackle. Herrington, Heilbron, Stewart, Penfield and Austin, all members of last year's peagreen eleven, are other likely first-string candidates.

WILLIS MEEHAN WILL BOX AT THE LEGION CONCLAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Willis Meehan, San Francisco heavyweight boxer, who holds the unique distinction of being the only man in the world to score two popular decisions in the prize-ring over the present world champion, Jack Dempsey, has offered his services to officers of the American Legion national convention committee, as a participant in the boxing-wrestling program that is to be staged during the Legion gathering here October 15-19. Meehan was a sailor during the world war, and captured a number of service championships. While his chances would be slim against boxers of the Dempsey calibre, his spectacular style of "milling" and ring antics are expected to create considerable amusement for the Legion visitors.

Golf courses and athletic club facilities in San Francisco will be available to visitors to the American Legion Convention. Gymnasiums, swimming pools and other facilities of the coast clubs will be placed at the disposal of the city's guests, only a Legion membership card being required for admittance. Many clubs and fraternal orders of the city plan to hold "Open House" sessions during convention week for the entertainment of visitors.

SMITH SYSTEM OF FOOTBALL DESCRIBED

You have heard of the Andy Smith system of football. Do you know what it is? If not, here is a chance for you to learn something about the method that has made three Wonder Teams for the University of California. The Press from time to time will publish a series of articles describing the far-famed California football style. This is the first one. Watch for the others.

The California system of football as developed by Andy Smith, Berkeley mentor, is a complete science in itself. Particular attention is paid to the mental qualifications of the men and the attention they devote to their studies. The requisites for aggressiveness which is considered 60 per cent of football, obedience, a cheerful willingness to obey instructions, concentration of mind and determination. The mental attitude of the men must consist of unselfishness, co-operation, and a sane attitude toward his personal training.

The coach must also watch his man very carefully for signs of staleness. It is seldom that a team goes physically stale, but very often they become mentally stale. When this happens, the coach must vary his work.

A constant rule for players is that they must not be both players and spectators. They must be in the game all the time, and doing something all the time. When the whistle blows, the player should hop into place and do his resting there.

One of the cardinal rules of the Andy Smith system is to keep cheerful; don't sulk. If a player thinks that he is not treated fairly, he should go to the coach and talk as man to man; he should never complain to his team-mates. The coach cannot play favorites; he must have merits to win games, not a team of friends alone.

The basic principles of the system are tackling, clipping, line charging, fast starting, and speedy handling of the ball by the back field men, and fast following of the ball. A team is as strong defensively as the individual members are proficient in tackling. A fearless tackler is of great value to a team and can put fear into the man carrying the ball. The form for a good tackle requires that the tackler crouch low before shooting his body forward close to the ground in a horizontal position by a powerful leg drive.

The system calls for a powerful defense, a kicker capable of booting the ball for great yardage, and a pair of ends who can get down and cover the put with a great deal of speed.

Andy Smith believes that there is a great deal in mental attitude, and that the game of football cannot be played by brawn alone, but requires trained minds. For that reason he requires his men to keep well up in their studies. No man who is in danger of "flunking," or who is down in any of his classes is allowed to play until such deficiencies are made up. On the field as well as in the classroom the men are required to study. They must study the game, the plays, and every detail told them by the coach. So much for the mental side of the Smith system. Now let us follow it out and see what is required of each player, and the manner in which he must fill his position.

The end positions require the headiest, most alert and fastest men on the field—men who are steady and not confused by trick formations. Since the end must shift to tackle on offense and meet heavy, plunging backs on defense, the ideal man should be as large and heavy as possible and still retain speed. Plenty of beef is necessary in making hard charges, blocking tackles and meeting the opposition on defensive. Low, sure

GLENDALE HIGH ELEVEN TO PLAY NORTHERN TEAMS

After taking their first battle from Van Nuys by the score of 31 to 0, the Glendale High school footballers are training even harder for the opening of the league season. Friday's game showed up the weak spots in the Glendale eleven, and now coach Hayhurst is working to eliminate the defects that the opening game displayed.

All this week the Dynamiters will practice alone, with occasional scrimmages with the lightweight squad. On Friday the Fillmore High school gridders will come south to tackle the local aggregation, while on Saturday Glendale will journey northward to play the Oxnard High eleven.

The boys have been showing up in great style during the first two weeks of practice, and displayed their stuff to great advantage in the Van Nuys encounter. Jim Crow and Bud, played a great game Friday, as did Ronald West, captain, and Richard Ryan.

Two weeks from Friday, October 19, Glendale will journey to South Pasadena for the first game in the Central League schedule. The Tigers are supposed to be a strong aggregation this year, and will give the locals a real scrap. It is for this game, the opening of the league season, that Hayhurst is directing all his efforts. By that time he hopes to have a bunch of footballers that can lick anything in sight, and from the way his gang looks now, his hopes should be fulfilled.

tackling, avoiding interference and getting under punts require plenty of speed. In grabbing forward passes and clipping both speed and shiftness are demanded. Summed up, the wing position requires a peculiar combination of speed and strength.

For the tackles, the requisites are somewhat similar to those of the ends, in that they require both speed and weight. The tackle should be the fastest and most experienced of the big men. In his position he is able to do the most defensive damage and should show up big men in that line, in addition to following the ball, tackling and clipping. Ability to charge the line and form interference are also included in the duties of the tackles. The man who possesses both weight and speed and a thorough knowledge of the game is the ideal tackle.

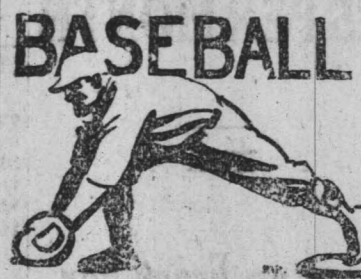

With the new rules, the qualifications for a guard have changed to suit the changed style of play. The old type of guard, with nothing but beef to entitle him to the position, has been replaced by the man who, in addition to sufficient nape, has the ability to remain constantly on his toes and fast enough to get out in interference. A stone wall on defense and the best man on the line in charging, the tackle must also know his stuff at blocking and clipping. With little opportunity for getting in the line, this position requires a steady, consistent player who can stand the hard work without mental weakening. The remaining positions will be covered in the next article.

ATHLETIC SEASON AT EVENING HIGH SCHOOL IS OPEN

Athletics at the evening High school will go like a million dollars this season if the turnout for the first session last night is any indication. A great many men and boys, interested in the forming of an athletic league among the different organizations of the city, to be played in the high school gymnasium, under the supervision of the night school, were present last night.

Basketball is the first sport to be organized. A league for the melon game is to be formed immediately and a number of teams will participate. Among the organizations that will be represented are the Ford agency, the Glendale Press, the Young Men's class of the First Baptist church and many others.

Play will commence as soon as a schedule can be arranged. A great season is expected, and entries are still open. Any teams or individuals wishing to participate in the games are advised to get in touch with Coach Hayhurst at the High school, or Community Service Director Tucker at the Chamber of Commerce.

THE GREATEST BASEBALL FIND OF YEAR 1923

He Is Young Tony Kauffman, Chicago Cub Pitcher

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Picking the best young ball player of the season as the major league schedules thin down to the last few games of the year is the opening of training for the Hot Stove League.

It is an old diversion, a source of unending arguments and a question that is seldom settled. Ideas about ball players vary with the individuals. Infielders favor infielders and pitchers apply the closest scrutiny to young hurlers.

Many competent critics regard young Tony Kauffman, the Chicago Cub pitcher, as the best find of the season.

Christy Mathewson, now president of the Boston Braves, expressed the opinion recently that Kauffman is the finest looking pitcher he has seen in years.

The development of Kauffman has an interesting background that is all the more interesting when applied to the praises sounded by Mathewson.

Kauffman is the protégé of the great Grover Alexander, the dean of the Cub pitchers and one of the finest pitchers of all times. Alex found Kauffman possessed of a lot of natural ability and the facility for learning. He took him in hand and made a pitcher out of him.

Not all great artists can teach. Some of the best instructors in sports are those who were not wizards in the actual performance of their art. Many of the best managers and trainers in the boxing world were ham fighters, but they had ideas they were able to carry out and which they could impart to others.

Jimmy DeForest was never a great fighter and yet he is accepted as the greatest teacher of boxing and the most successful developer of fighters in the country. Dan Morgan never was a fighter. He got out of politics to become a handler of boxers and he developed a number of great fighters, including Jack Britton, Battling Levinsky and Knockout Brown.

He had in his fadeaway ball one of the most effective of all pitching deliveries, but he never was able to teach any pitcher to throw it. He only knew how to throw it himself.

It might have been, some thought, that Mathewson did not want to give up the secret, but it is certain that in his new position as a club owner it would be greatly to his advantage to pass it on to his pitchers, and he has several youngsters with the Boston Braves who would become stars with the delivery.

FIRPO IS SUED FOR $54,206 BY LONG BEACH MAN

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Luis Angel Firpo climbed from a $125 third-rater to a $125,000 championship contender in a year and a half of pugilistic enterprises in this country, according to papers filed today in the suit brought by Andrew D. McCorkindale, of Long Beach, N. Y., against the Argentine boxer, for $54,206.

SCARE CROWS OUT OF A JOB

Just recently the hunters of Antelope and Madison counties, Nebraska, organized a crow-killing contest. The time was one month and the losing group was to entertain the winners. We do not know who won, but that matters little for our purpose here. The big fact is that 35,000 crows were killed in that one month.

He Is Young Tony Kauffman, Chicago Cub Pitcher

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Picking the best young ball player of the season as the major league schedules thin down to the last few games of the year is the opening of training for the Hot Stove League.

It is an old diversion, a source of unending arguments and a question that is seldom settled. Ideas about ball players vary with the individuals. Infielders favor infielders and pitchers apply the closest scrutiny to young hurlers.

Many competent critics regard young Tony Kauffman, the Chicago Cub pitcher, as the best find of the season.

Christy Mathewson, now president of the Boston Braves, expressed the opinion recently that Kauffman is the finest looking pitcher he has seen in years.

The development of Kauffman has an interesting background that is all the more interesting when applied to the praises sounded by Mathewson.

Kauffman is the protégé of the great Grover Alexander, the dean of the Cub pitchers and one of the finest pitchers of all times. Alex found Kauffman possessed of a lot of natural ability and the facility for learning. He took him in hand and made a pitcher out of him.

Not all great artists can teach. Some of the best instructors in sports are those who were not wizards in the actual performance of their art. Many of the best managers and trainers in the boxing world were ham fighters, but they had ideas they were able to carry out and which they could impart to others.

Jimmy DeForest was never a great fighter and yet he is accepted as the greatest teacher of boxing and the most successful developer of fighters in the country. Dan Morgan never was a fighter. He got out of politics to become a handler of boxers and he developed a number of great fighters, including Jack Britton, Battling Levinsky and Knockout Brown.

He had in his fadeaway ball one of the most effective of all pitching deliveries, but he never was able to teach any pitcher to throw it. He only knew how to throw it himself.

It might have been, some thought, that Mathewson did not want to give up the secret, but it is certain that in his new position as a club owner it would be greatly to his advantage to pass it on to his pitchers, and he has several youngsters with the Boston Braves who would become stars with the delivery.

WORK TO BEGIN SOON ON CULVER CITY RACE TRACK

Jack Dempsey Will Assist in Ground-breaking Exercises

The work of building the new $500,000 betless race track of the Southern California Jockey club at Culver City will start Sunday with ground-breaking exercises in which the highest salaried pick and shovel "laborers" in the world will participate. The announcement was made yesterday by Dick Ferris, promoter of the track.

Will Rogers of Ziegfeld Follies and movie fame, will be master of ceremonies, Jack Dempsey, greatest boxer of all times, will represent fistiana. Marco Hellman, has been asked to represent the riding clubs of the city, and a whole host of movie stars will appear to do as Rogers directs.

Among those invited are William S. Hart, King Baggot, Douglas Fairbanks, William Duncan, William Russell, Al St. John, Jack Hoxie, Charles "Buck" Jones, Hoot Gibson, Tony Moreno, Lew Cody, Pauline Frederick, Ruth Roland, Helen Holmes, William Desmond, Lewis Stone, Edna Cudaby, James Cruze, Herbert Rawlinson, Harry Carey, George D. Baker, Oscar Apfel, Richard Stanton, William V. Mong, James Morrison and others.

Since the idea of the track was first conceived by Ferris, Morrison has been one of its most enthusiastic backers. When he went east several weeks ago he was commissioned to visit various horsemen to sound them out. He has reported that practically all intend to be at the first meeting of the club.

Motion pictures of the ground-breaking exercises with its brilliant array of participants are to be made.

SPORT-O-GRAMS

Stanford conflict, which, out of custom, has grown to be the big game. Nope, Andy is not a Gloomy Gus.

SAD FOR LOCAL FANS

After a strenuous road trip, in which they have lived up to their usual reputation, the Angels have returned to Los Angeles, where they will remain for the final three weeks of the series. This week they take on Sacramento, and then Salt Lake and Vernon in the order named. The Tigers, safe in the cellar berth, will spend the next two weeks on the road, after which they will return for the closing series with Los Angeles. In former years a closing series between Los Angeles and Vernon would draw immense crowds, but in the present state of affairs the two teams will be doing well if the right field bleachers are filled. Los Angeles is in fifty position, with a slim chance of crowding Seattle out of the first division and finishing fourth, while Vernon is inalterably, undeniably and utterly last and also least. The Tigers have had some hard luck this season, and have had a long sick list most of the year, while the Angels, although winning a majority of their home games, has proved a consistent loser on the road. By defeating Sacramento Sunday, San Francisco clinched the Coast League flag for 1923. It's a sad year for local fans.

SIKI IN PRINT

It seems that Battling Siki, Paris matinee idol and sometimes prize fighter, failed to make such a hit in little old New York. In Paris, Siki's impulse was to make himself conspicuous with pet lions, abstinence, fixed fights and the informal socking of cafe patrons. But in little old New York he was unable to make himself known, or even to get in print. Finally he has been able to achieve publicity, but of a different variety than he anticipated. Siki was arraigned for violating the boxing laws by appearing in an exhibition bout without first going through the formality of securing a permit. He said that he was unaware that such a thing was necessary, and expressed his sorrow to learn that he had violated a law. After a lecture and a warning toward the U. S. C. game, the judge let him off. Anyway Siki broke into print.

COMEDY

DIRECTION TURNER, DANNEN & LANGLEY
AND WEST COAST THEATRES, INC.

'PETTICOAT LANE' BIG ATTRACTION FOR NEXT WEEK

"Where is 'Petitcoat Lane'?" Right here in Glendale, say the local De Molays. On next Monday and Tuesday evenings, at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, the people of Glendale will have a chance to see what is doing on "Petitcoat Lane."

A musical comedy, full of laughs and hits, a scream from start to finish—that is "Petitcoat Lane." Its author, Mr. Lucien Denni, well-known composer of popular song hits, is directing the production. In the cast are many local young people, members of the order of De Molay and their friends.

"Petitcoat Lane" tells the story of Pet Palmer, a small town girl who has just left school and saved enough money to come to the big city. She has earned some money in her spare time by manicuring in her home town. She thinks that by stopping at a very swell hotel and joining the younger bunch of society girls, she will eventually make a millionaire. With her rich husband she would live happily ever after, but she wants him young and handsome. Marie Hearnshaw portrays the part of Miss Palmer, the Pet of Petitcoat Lane.

In dental college there is a fellow by the name of Jack Randolph, who, getting several of the students together with him, tells them that there is a way to make a bunch of easy money, and that if they stake him to their best looking clothes and a couple of thousand dollars, he could land a millionaire's daughter, and so pay them back with profit, and be fixed for life himself. Claude Whitfield takes the part of Jack Randolph.

When Jack meets Pet there are some screamingly funny lines between them. Pet tells of her father and mother traveling in Egypt and brags about their association with European royalty. For every boast that she makes Jack mentions the fortune he will get when he is 21.

The first scene takes place on Petitcoat Lane. Of course every business street in every town is recognized as Petitcoat Lane. It is here we find the policeman, the colored street cleaner, Antonio, the fruit vendor, Buster, Buzz, the slinky sales girl, Jimmy Stuart, buyer for a large store, and many other interesting characters.

It would be useless to describe the entire story. Suffice it to say that the love interest and several little stories combining the couples keep the audience excited until the final curtain.

Tickets for the production are now on sale, and can be obtained from any DeMolay and also at the Glendale Daily Press office. The profits from the play will go to the local De Molays, who are staging the production.

CANTON CREPE COAT DRESS

Exceedingly new and smart is a dress of canton crepe in dark blue that is made on the popular coat dress lines. The long sleeves and finished with a fingerie trim, as is the collar, and the skirt is composed of a number of tiny ruffles of the canton crepe.

SUMMER DAYS

Sing a song of hollow logs
Chirp of crickets, croak of frogs,
Cry of wild birds, hum of bees,
Dancing leaves and whispering trees,
Legs all bare and dusty toes,
Ruddy cheeks and freckled nose,
Splash of brook and swish of line,
Where the song that's half so fine?

Sing a song of summer days,
Leafy nooks and shady ways,
Nodding roses, apples red,
Clover like a carpet spread,
Sing a song of running brooks,
Cans of bait and fishing hooks,
Dewy hollows, yellow moons,
Birds a-pipe with merry tunes.

Sing a song of skies of blue,
Eden's garden made anew,
Scarlet hedges, leafy lanes,
Vine-embowered silks and panes,
Stretch of meadows splashed with dew,
Silver clouds with sunlight through,
Cry of loon and pipe of wren—
And now schooldays come again.

AT THE THEATRES

JACKIE COOGAN'S FERVENT LOVE MELTS ICE CREAM

The party who said that "the course of true love never runs smooth," certainly knew just what he was talking about.

One is convinced of that after viewing Jackie Coogan's thoroughly delightful picture, "Circus Days," the first National feature being presented by Sol Lesser at the Gateway Theater this week.

Jackie plays the part of a youngster who has a job selling refreshments at a circus. Mr. Lord, his boss and a hard taskmaster, sends him inside the main tent to dispose of a tray of ice cream cones.

Jackie becomes fascinated with a charming little equestrienne. He sits down to watch her. By the time he gets up the cones have all melted.

On his way back, in dread of the propable consequences, he meets his friend, an old clown, who gives him a dollar to appease the tyrannical Mr. Lord, and thus, for the time being, the lad's troubles are over.

"THE WHITE ROSE" NOW SHOWING AT THE GLENDALE

In naming his newest photoplay production, "The White Rose," D. W. Griffith has happily combined a symbol of love and the character of his heroine in the play. An orphan girl, portrayed by Mae Marsh, plucks a white rose and presents it to a youth of high station at their first meeting. The lover carries it through all his wanderings as a sustaining hope. The girl, after numerous vicissitudes, and amid the disdain and ridicule of her acquaintances, emerges from her woes the same innocent child she had been at first meeting her lover.

For Novello, a young English actor, will be seen as the lover. Two contrasting roles of high importance in the play are enacted by Carol Dempster and Neil Hamilton. Miss Dempster's role is one ideally suited to her charm and talents, that of a proud girl of the south with wealth and social standing. Mr. Hamilton will be seen in an unusually vigorous characterization.

Lucille La Verne and Porter Strong, as negro characters in the story, are happily placed in congenial roles.

"The White Rose" is now showing at the Glendale Theater.

LAST SHOWINGS "RUGGLES OF RED GAP" AT T. D. & L.

The last showings today of "Ruggles of Red Gap" at the T. D. & L. Theater will undoubtedly draw continuous crowds for it is seldom such a brilliant galaxy of stars is assembled in one play as appear in this screen classic. It is a James Cruze production of Harry Leon Wilson's popular novel of the same title wherein a down-and-out English "Honourable" drifts into a rough western min-

FIRST REHEARSAL GUILD PAGEANT HELD LAST NIGHT

The first rehearsal for the community pageant, "A Night in Dreamland" was held last night in the store room at 246 North Brand, where all rehearsals will be held. Mattison B. Jones donated the use of his building for the work of preparing the large cast of 300 adults and children for the pageant.

Many of Glendale's most talented people turned out to meet Director Wellington and to enroll for parts in the forthcoming production. The director gave a description of the pageant and much interest was created in the pantomimes, classic dances, comedies, song numbers and other features that go to make up the production. Miss Kathleen Woods was assigned one of the principal dancing numbers in the garden party scene, an interpretative dance entitled "A Girl, a Boy, and Moonlight."

The ladies of St. Mark's guild are very enthusiastic over the affair they have undertaken to launch for Glendale. It is one of the biggest things ever attempted in the history of guild work, and the interest seen at every turn and the spontaneous way in which Glendale people have taken hold of the work is most encouraging to members of the committee and to the director.

All children of the community are invited to enroll in the children's chorus at the rehearsals held every afternoon at 246 North Brand. There is a very interesting work for children, in songs, dancing, marching, drills and acting. Director Wellington has had a wide experience in the training of children and his work has been endorsed by public school authorities all over this county and in Canada. The children's rehearsals begin promptly at 4 o'clock. The grownups meet in the evening at 7:30 o'clock for rehearsal.

All people interested in dramatic art, singing, dancing and motion picture acting, should attend the rehearsal to be held tonight. Visitors are made welcome at all rehearsals.

The production will be staged in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse on the nights of October 10 and 11.

Centenarian Picks Fruit at Willows

WILLOWS, Calif., Sept. 25 (United Press).—Although she says she is 110 years old, Ann Brown, widow of Jim Brown, deceased chief of the Grindstone Indians, is picking fruit in the orchards at Vina, Calif., with other members of the tribe. Ann is one of the 100 survivors of a tribe that numbered 10,000 back in 1844.

The widow of the former chief says she must work to make her "winter's stake."

DRIVE AGAINST ONE-ARMED DRIVER

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 25 (United Press).—A vigorous campaign against "one-armed" drivers of automobiles has been started here. The one-armed man is declared to be holding one arm around the girl with him. Police understand, however, that "one-armed" driver does not signify a man with only one arm.

Orders against the one-armed driver issued by the chief of police explains explicitly that only the man with one arm around a girl's waist is to be arrested. If the arm is merely atrophied or the driver too weary to hold up but one arm, makes no difference.

Allen Claims to End Rheumatism

ALLENRHU relieves at once. One bottle—a full pint—will show you the way to complete recovery or your druggist will gladly return your money.

Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a week.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the tortments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU shows immediate results, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee one full pint bottle in every instance. Roberts & Echols can supply you.—Adv.

USEFUL MAHOGANY TABLE

Built upon excellent lines, an oval table of mahogany that has drop leaf sides has many possibilities.

When the train drew into the station of a certain American town, all the windows open to catch a breath of air, an innocent-looking man appeared around the corner of the station, carrying a basket on his arm. Hurrying to the window of a smoking car, he exhibited a black quart bottle which he had taken from the basket, and, with a knowing wink, said:

"Any gent like to buy a bottle of nice ice-cold tea?"

He sold every bottle, but concluded each sale with: "Better wait till the train has pulled out before you take a drink, you know, for I don't want any trouble."

The train pulled out and the man was making off when an observant bystander asked him why he had requested the purchasers to wait until the train had started before taking a drink.

"Because," he said, with a sly wink, "them bottles all contained ice-cold tea."
